Happy Valentine's Day by Evan Kramer

The country turns toward one of its more light-hearted, fun days of the year. Yes, I'm speaking about Valentine's Day which falls this year on Monday, February 14. Well at least this is one special day that isn't always on a Monday. I don't know why but this year I keep thinking of the "I Love Lucy Show" with the music and twin hearts.

One of my favorite people in Port Orford is having a birthday which falls a couple of days shy of Valentine's Day. That person who shares the same birth date as our 16th President, Abraham Lincoln is Gwendolyn Guerin. She is celebrating her 50th birthday this Saturday. Gwen owns and operates one of Port Orford's landmarks Gwendolyn's Bed and Breakfast. The last couple of years she has been working on her Sunshine Garden and recently opened the Jam Stand located adjacent to the bed and breakfast and featuring some great locally-made jams. Congratulations Gwendolyn.

For those in a mood to get their sweetheart a little something there's a fine selection of flowers and plants at Sea Breeze Florist. Gail has an adept hand and eye for arrangements and colors. Recently I saw her down at Battle Rock beach after surfing a few sets. That water looked too cold for me, even with a wet suit!

Other Valentine's goings on around town include dancing to the music of Timber

Wolf at the Port and Starboard on Friday and Saturday night including a sweetheart's dinner on Saturday, a night before Valentine's Day dinner at the Truculent Oyster, and a busy post office handling the extra large amount of Valentine's cards.

Looking at the calendar we're a little past the midpoint of winter. We've had plenty of freezing weather. The first thing I look for every morning to tell how cold it got is look down at the chicken's water dishes to see if they have a frozen "lid" on them. Several mornings they have been frozen and I've had to break the ice for them. Yet at the same time we've had such warm and sunny weather all kinds of plants are in bloom. Down the street from the store is a cherry tree in full bloom. Our yard is a riot of yellow as the seeds of an acacia tree that was killed off by the Christmas time snow three years ago sprout up everywhere and flower. Gorse, one of the most volatile non-native plants is thriving and in bloom wherever you go.

Now the markets and variety stores have loaded their front walls with such gardener's delights as flower starts, steer manure, chicken compost and bark. Of course you could get yourself your own chickens. I think of my little flock as a Port Orford garbage disposal system. What many would stuff down their sink, grind up and send to the treatment plant I put in a pail and feed to a group of birds who then give me eggs and chicken manure free of charge. Actually by the time you buy them their feed they're no bargain but what the heck. There's nothing quite like getting menaced by old rooster, with a rather impressive set of spurs, protecting his hens.

Letter To The Editor

There have been several letters written to our local newspapers regarding poor criminal investigations conducted by the Sheriff's Department. I have talked with citizens who voice a common complaint. "What is being done about my case?" This is an extremely valid public concern that has been ignored by our current administration. The cause of this common complaint is simple. Our Sheriff's Department has no case management program. A simple case management program is one that insures that each case gets a thorough and complete investigation, and the citizen who has had the misfortune of being a victim is not forgotten. I can relate to this common complaint because I have been a victim of crimes myself. I know what it feels like to be robbed by an armed criminal. I know the feeling of having my home burglarized by someone unknown to me. When a person is victimized, there is an overwhelming feeling of being violated and vulnerable. Every victim in our county needs to know their Sheriff's Department is providing a professional and resourceful approach to investigating their case, that will insure each crime has and will be given the attention it deserves. The potential for solvability of crimes can be increased by implementing a simple case management program, common in other law enforcement agencies.

Under our current administration, our communities crime problems have been approached with traditional methods of law enforcement. The Sheriff's Department currently utilizes most of its resources to react to crimes as they occur. To help reduce crime, we need to balance this use of resources better. We need to combine traditional methods of policing with a more proactive approach. A proactive approach deals more with problem solving techniques that stress long term benefits of crime prevention. Our current administration has had sufficient time to implement programs that benefit our county such as community policing, crime prevention, neighborhood watch, a reserve force, cadet and volunteer programs. All these basic programs are utilized in other law enforcement agencies with good results. We need change in our current administration to insure that we all benefit from these programs. Once these programs are implemented, and maintained as a vital part of our Sheriff's Office, then we can begin to provide a professional service to our communities.

Grange Skate Escape

The Sixes River Grange announces the first night of roller skating mania. It's happening on Saturday evening, February 12, from 6:30 - 9:00pm. There will be beverages for purchase and if everyone brought a little munchable such as cookies or chips, we'd even have food available.

Come skate or blade to whatever the DJ of the night's mood is and if you have a favorite tape to skate to, bring that along. This is an experiment to see if our local youths are interested in this sort of thing. It could be the start of some really great fun.

We're sorry to say that we don't have skates to rent. If anyone out there knows of a place where we could rent skates either for this night or for the future please call Julie at 332-7635. There is no cover charge, no age limit, no metal wheels allowed, and no babysitting available. All parents are welcome and encouraged to participate.

This event will replace the usual Friday night potluck social.

Hope to see you there! With skates on!!

Faustworks Mask Theater

"Stand-up comedy, dance, mime, theater..." These are all words which have been used to describe Faustworks Mask Theater from Warren, Connecticut. They will be on hand to delight audiences of all ages on Friday, February 18 at the Sawdust Theater in Coquille.

Faustworks explores the fertile artistic territory that lies somewhere between dance and theater. With an array of expressive masks and precise movement technique, the performers are able to illuminate aspects of the human condition in a series of pieces that range from comic to bizarre to poignant. This well-crafted performance is startling in its simplicity and unnerving in its power to shift perceptions with even the smallest gesture. Faustworks indeed stretches dance into another realm that is perhaps best described as "physical theater." It is a unique performance that brims with illusion, wit and humanity.

Faustwork Mask Theater was founded by Robert Faust in 1983 as a solo company. Since that time it has expanded to include six performing artists and an

To Valerie Jean Kramer

You must be from England. You mentioned the word "penny" several times in your article. This country has never made "pennies". Just look on the back of it and you will see "1 cent".

You owe the public an explanation. The U.S. Coinage Act named them 1 cent pieces many, many years ago and they are still the same today, 1 cent pieces.

Even the Indian Head cent is an Indian Head "cent".

School Board Report by Valerie Jean Kramer

The Port Orford-Langlois 2CJ School Board held their monthly meeting on Tuesday, February 7. The process of preparing next year's budgets has begun and the board was presented with a summary of staff changes requested by the three principals. Board and principals agree that the district needs to hire someone skilled in computer technology to assist Paul Young in maintaining and improving the computerization of our schools. Computers are starting to make inroads at Driftwood and Blanco and Paul can't be everywhere at once, nor can he spend all of his time installing, troubleshooting, and training staff members. Assistance was also requested at Blanco so that the library can operate at lunch times and to relieve the custodian of locker room monitor chores. Driftwood needs additional assistance to provide opportunities for students to learn while waiting for the late bus.

The board held a first reading for a revised policy on transportation of students in private vehicles.

The Driftwood Boosters are selling T-Shirts emblazoned with the school logo, a sea otter, for $5.00 ($6.00 adult size).

4200 trees, supplied by Menasha and the Forest Service, were planted at Blanco. The include Sugar Pine, Incense Cedar, Port Orford Cedar, and White Fir trees.

Dan Haffner won the OMSI Chess semi-finals and will go on to Portland this spring. Julie Young, Daniel Notman and Josh Stevens also did well in the competitions.

Don Smith reported that the certified employees union is asking for a 7% raise. This would be in addition to the 4% "step increase" they get each year (up to 12 years of experience) and another 4% increase if they upgrade their own degree status by specified amounts. Thus, some teachers could get as much as a 15% raise. Cost of living is now less than 3%.

Dick Wold reported on the current financial picture of the district and said, "We are in excellent condition." (Isn't it nice to hear something good?) The district will have about $183,977 more next year than this year but that money has to cover all raises, increased utility bills, and other increased costs of the district.

If all goes as planned we will also have a carry-over comparable to the $368,127 we had this year. This money is used to pay the bills, including $210,000 per month payroll, at the start of the school year before state payments are received. While not in use, this money is invested and earns about $35,000. If we were to spend this money, we would have to borrow money so we would lose the $35,000 and would likely have to pay even more than $35,000 in interest. Thus, maintaining this carryover frees more than $70,000 per year to pay wages or other expenses. Maintaining this reserve is a most effective use of funds.

Port Orford Justice Court

Local Justice of the Peace, Richard AuFranc, has announced that after a trial period, the Port Orford Justice Court is returning to being open three days per week, all day.

For the past four months, the Court has been open daily 8:30am to 12:30pm. During the trial period, it was found that there were many instances when members of the public or other agency personnel were not able to deal with the Court in the mornings. It was easier for them to have access to the Court in the afternoons.

The Court is only budgeted to be open 20 hours per week. Thus, it is difficult to meet all of the needs of the public and other agencies during that short period of time.

Starting February 14th, the Court will be open:

Mon 8:30 - 12:00, 1:00 - 4:30

Tue & Wed 8:30 - 12:00, 1:00 - 4:00
Thu & Fri Closed

If you have any questions, the Court's phone number is 332-2161.

What a man really says when he says that someone else can be persuaded by force, is that he himself is incapable of more rational means of communication.

This month, from Pacific High School Writers' Club, we are featuring our prose-writers: Ted Buseman and Jeremy Rhodes. Both enjoy creating high adventure science fiction pieces. Both are very prolific once the creative juices begin flowing--so to speak.

We will miss Ted, he's moving to Arizona but below is the beginning to, what looks like, a very interesting story: "As the small space vessel, the Quadron, was hit with full speed by the Mandranian, John Stevens, Captain of the Quadron was in deep thought. He thought about his wife and children left on Moonchase IV and how they would be affected by this warHe remembered the last moments he had spent with his wife, Becky, and remembered her beautiful hair. Then reality hit him with full force. The Mandranian had fired another phaser blast at them. John turned around and looked at his first officer, then at his engineer, and then down and the computer com in front of him. He pressed the button and said, "Weapon and shield status, now Engineer Smith . . ." (Ted promised to send along more of the story . . .)

Jeremy Rhodes promised you would see his work-in-progress in this year's literary anthology. Unlike Ted, Jeremy's work tends to be less concerned with the supernatural and more concerned with adventure. Unfortunately, this will also be Jeremy's last year to contribute since he'll graduate in June! Look for his finished piece this spring along with a story by Ted.

Feel free to stop by and join us at a meeting - we usually gather every other week and share/critique work. P.H.S. writers are also very busy people. We value our writers and welcome others to join us.

City Council Meets

The next meeting of the Port Orford City Council is Monday evening, February 14, at 7:00pm in the city hall council chambers.

The last time the city council regarding the water situation was in special session on Monday morning, January 18. The council members voted to hire Portland lawyer Frank Hilton to represent the city. His job was to file an injunction against Ernie Busamann regarding activities on his property that forced the city to switch from its Hubbard Creek water supply to drawing their drinking water from Garrison Lake. manager, said the injunction will be filed before the circuit court in Gold Beach on March 10 at 9:00am. Hilton will present the city's case to the court.

The first meeting of the Hubbard's Creek Watershed Council is scheduled for Thursday, February 17, at 2:00pm. In addition to the many members of the public on the council officials from several state agencies will attend including State Forestry, Department of Fish and Wildlife and the Department of Environmental Quality. The first meeting will be moderated by the city's attorney Lynn Heusinkveld.

The results of the water test conducted by Unpqua Research Company of Myrtle Creek have been turned over to the city. The test, which cost approximately $1,600, was done on Garrison Lake water in response to public concern. Unpqua had one column establishing maximum contaminant levels of the various synthetic organic and inorganic chemicals in addition to volatile organic chemicals. The detection level on these chemicals was under in all cases.

In other council business the council will consider taking on more of the planning department responsibilities from the County. The county has billed the city $10,211 for one year of services with $3,650 covered by user fees. This leaves the city with a bill for over $6500.

The city currently uses the services of Chuck Nordstrom, county planning department head, when the local planning commission meets. Reducing some of his hours and that of the county clerical staff could result in a savings of $3500 a year. However, the city will have to take into consideration the expertise level that Nordstrom and the county bring to the table.
