So what's wrong
with a little rain?

Good News

By Evan Kramer

Port Orford went a day without any measurable rain on Monday, February 28. Thus ended the wet month of February. Last year we got 6.60 inches of rain in February. I collected over nine inches of rain in the rain gauge and this doesn't figure in the day it rained all day and topped off while I was out and about. Of course some of us don't mind a lot of rain. Meanwhile one of my favorite plants, the skunk cabbage, have popped up after a long rest and are blooming. This plant thrives in wetlands, alongside creeks and other damp areas.

The Whale Cove restaurant was back in business last Thursday after suffering a fire in the kitchen a week earlier. Owner Terry Ramey, Leslie and the rest of the crew along with some much needed help went to work almost immediately after the smoke cleared down. They got the restaurant back in business after one week and it looks great.

Residents of Port Orford embraced their movie theater with enthusiasm and appreciation as it reopened for business last Friday night. The biggest crowds by far were for the two matinee performances of Jurassic Park. I was watching from a window seat at Bartlett's on Saturday just before the movie started and was really impressed by the number of young people headed toward the theater from all directions for a Saturday matinee.

Jurassic Park drew a large crowd on Sunday but a bit older in nature while I'll Do Anything did well but sure didn't have the drawing power of Stephen Spielberg and the dinosaurs.

Len and Cindy Ottwell, who own and operate the Star Theater, asked to me to convey to the community their heartfelt gratitude and appreciation for your response this past weekend. They are currently arranging for the next several weeks of movies at the theater starting with the Robin William smash hit Mrs. Doubtfire this weekend for five performances. The Ottwell's plan to make their theater available to local groups and events. The first non-movie event is already booked and only a couple of weeks away. The evening entitled "Fiddling at the Star" features the musical skills of Hanneke Cassel, Casey Willis and Peter Willis. These three musicians will fill the theater with their musical talent on Sunday evening, March 20, starting at 7:30pm.

One remark I overheard yesterday concerning the theater summed it all up for me. One of the students at the elementary school told their teacher on Monday they had never been to a movie before this past weekend. That makes all the Ottwell's efforts all the more special.

This paper has changed its format somewhat with the removal of the calendar section. Rather than present community events and happenings with very little information as we have done, we are putting in the events and trying to add some substance to them. In other words more than just date, time, and name. We still need your help. Many of the smaller articles in this paper are submitted to us by various groups or taken from publicity flyers. If your group is having a non-profit event like a book

Watershed Council Meets

The Hubbards Creek Watershed Management council held its second meeting on Wednesday evening, February 23. The group met at the Port Orford city hall council chambers at 7:00pm. Commissioner Rocky McVay is the county representative on the council but couldn't attend the meeting. Chuck Nordstrom attended in his place. Representing the city of Port Orford were councilman Carl Eskelson and city manager Dean Madison.

The council decided they would settle issues by a vote if they couldn't reach consensus on an issue. An important piece of business was the council's addition of the Garrison Lake watershed to the management council.

Thanks to Mirleen O'Hearn all those assembled were given the opportunity to see a couple of excellent black and white aerial photographs of the Hubbard Creek and Garrison Lake watersheds.

The group moved into goals and purposes and started with listing several possible problems with the watersheds. They included quantity of water, turbidity, contamination, quality, property owner rights, availability, forest practices, public rights, general land use, septic systems, access roads, fisheries and wildlife, chemicals, storm drainage, erosion control, erosion control, hazmat spills, recreational use, population growth, landfill, drying lakes, wildfires and gorse control. The group wants set as part of its agenda setting goals at their next meeting which is scheduled for Wednesday evening, March 9, at 7:00, in the council chambers. The public is welcome to attend and there is time set aside for input.

All You Can Eat Dessert

Come join us at Pacific High School Project Graduation's annual auction and all you can eat dessert, March 12, at 7:00pm, at the Port Orford Community Center. This is our biggest fundraiser of the year and we have many exciting items to auction: works by local artists, valuable goods and service from local businesses, meals and lodging at various restaurants and motels. Visa and MasterCard will be accepted.

Each year, Project Graduation raises money to provide graduating seniors with an all night drug and alcohol free party. Please come have fun and help support our cause!

If you haven't been contacted and would like to donate goods or services for us to auction, or would like to purchase tickets, please call Sandi at 348-2282 or Barbara at 332-3755.

A young doctor visited his patient when he regained consciousness after surgery.

"How do you feel now? Any aches or pains?" the doctor asked with a smile.

"Well," answered the patient, "my chest still hurts, but only when I breathe."

"No problem," said the doctor with a bigger smile. "I'll give you something that will soon stop that."

Guitar Stolen

A yellow Fender Telecaster guitar belonging to Rick Cook was stolen from the Cook Gallery during the evening of March 1 or early morning of March 2. The bandit broke a rear window to the gallery in addition to a front window to gain access to the building. The guitar was taken but the case and power cord were left behind. Nothing else was taken from the gallery.

Curry County Sheriff's took a report on the theft on Wednesday morning and are actively pursuing the case.

Let's Get Organized

You are invited to the Langlois-Port Orford Christian Women's Club luncheon on Wednesday, March 9, at 12:00 noon at the Truculent Oyster restaurant in Port Orford. The cost of the lunch is $5.95 and the theme for this month's luncheon is "Let's Get Organized".

A special feature of the luncheon is a talk by Linda Spear, with Tupperware, entitled "Everything Has Its Place". There will be a musical interlude by Donna Lindberg and Carla Hensley called "Special Arrangements" and a talk by guest Nancy Carruthers, a former Olympic hopeful, speaking about "An Orderly Life".

Reservations are essential and cancellations necessary. Please call either 332-0825 or 348-2379. There will be preschool childcare available.

Letter To The Editor

We wish to publicly express our thanks and appreciation to Detective Mark Creighton for helping us with the problem we had involving the owner of Pizzan Pizza, which after a long year has finally been settled. Our thanks also, to Charlie Stake of the District Attorney's office in Gold Beach for his help.

Detective Creighton's conduct was very professional while at the same time being friendly, courteous, and supporting and we feel he went the extra mile for us. It is not easy to be in law enforcement now-a-days but we can all help by supporting our fine officers such as Detective Creighton. It would benefit all of us. We experienced his attitude and found that he cares very much about the good people in our community and we were happy that he was there for us when we needed him.

40 people attended last months arts council meeting and enjoyed a potluck and helped choose the winner of the t-shirt contest. And the winner is....Donna Roselius. Donna's winning design will soon grace the arts council's t-shirts and sweatshirts and be sold locally at the Rick Cook Gallery, Grantland Mayfield Gallery and Port Orford Pharmacy. The design is set on an artist's palette and is an overview of Port Orford incorporating the heads, the bay, Battle Rock into a wave shape. Congratulations to Donna on her very fine design!

The Port Orford Arts Festival is set for the weekend of May 6,7,8 - Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Some of the programs include glass blowing, wood turning, basket weaving, jewelry making, wood carving, painting and several art exhibitions. Locations of various Arts Festival events range from Rick Cook Gallery to Grantland Mayfield Gallery to Port Orford Pottery to Driftwood Elementary School to Plum Tree Glass studio in Sixes to the Raincoast Art Gallery in Langlois. Most of the events and shows will take place in Port Orford.

Thanks

The Kalmiopsis Audubon Society is sponsoring a hike to historic Frankport and Sisters Rock along the beautiful Southern Oregon coast.

Brian McNulty will lead the hike on Saturday morning, March 5, starting at 10:15am, at the parking lot just off Highway 101, halfway between milepost 314 and 315. The route will descend to the skimpy remains of the old port, the very interesting rocks and the surrounding beaches. The port has had a fascinating past, especially in the 1890's, the 1950's and even the 1980's. A low tide will ensure access to the rocks and caves. Due to space limitations at the parking lot, it is suggested that those traveling from Brookings/Harbor or Gold Beach meet at 9:45am in front of the Gold Beach Ranger District & Visitor's Center, 1225 S. Ellensburg, Gold Beach at 9:45am in order to carpool.

Hunting for Dinosaurs

Thanks to the movie Jurassic Park we now have a resurgence of interest in all things dinosaur. We've got purple singing ones and plastic roaring ones. People are finding dinosaur eggs and dinosaur bones. What was once almost the exclusive interest of children now attracts the interest of people of all ages and cultures.

Every one is dinosaur hunting these days.

But while this pursuit is fun, it is also worth noting that dinosaurs are extinct. Conditions changed, or perhaps a great cataclysm occurred, and the dinosaurs were no more. They couldn't adjust to the changes, couldn't cope with the disaster.

These animals, so huge and powerful, so seemingly indestructible have vanished! It is almost inconceivable, but it is true.

The fact is size, power and strength alone do not ensure survival. And that is a lesson that is as true in business and family as it is in the natural order of things. Size and power are nice to have, but they don't guarantee permanent vitality.

We only need to look around to see giant industries that have been bruised and battered by the changing face of competition. They were tripped up by competitors who saw the changing environment and could move quickly enough to cope with it.

Our survival depends on our ability to stay sharp and nimble on a changing playing field of competition. Let's not become dinosaurs who keep doing the same things the same ways without looking for ways to improve.

Instead, let's join the hunt for dinosaurs and make sure we stay in tune with the future.

sale or a nature walk we'd be glad to write it up in the paper. A paper needs eyes and ears in the community. What's that saying, the squeaky wheel gets greased. So squeak up and we'll do the rest.

Don't forget about the Easter Seal Telethon this weekend. Several of our friends and neighbors will be handling the telephones during the fundraising drive on Saturday night and Sunday morning and afternoon at the Port Orford Realty.
