Council Votes No On Budget By Evan Kramer

The Port Orford City Council met on Monday night beginning at 6:30pm with a public hearing on the 1996-97 city budget. No one from the public spoke but councilor Ralph Donaldson had several things to say. He talked about the 6% increase in the tax base that the city and most taxing districts take every year. He said some people in town don't get any cost of living increases. Donaldson offered forth the proposal of raising the tax base by 3 1/2% increase on the part of the city budget other than concerned with personal. That amounts to $100,000. Donaldson said people's standard of living is being reduced. Councilor Robert Warring said he had read public work's director Alan Wagner's report and was now reluctant to give up the 6%. Councilor George Kennedy spoke in favor of taking the 6%. No action was taken and the meeting was closed.

The council swung back into action at 7:00pm and for a change approved the minutes for the previous four council meetings without a lot of changes or questions.

Alan Wagner Resigns

Public Works Director Alan Wagner gave his report and started by saying the city is now back on Hubbard Creek water. He said the water treatment plant produced 4,506,000 gallons of water during the month of May. He noted there has been less vandalism going on in the city since Barney Issel started working as police chief. He then told the council and public he was resigning as public work's director. He thanked the council for giving him a try in that job. Wagner stated that the City doesn't have enough money in the budget to keep the equipment repaired. Robert Warring wanted the council and public to hear Alan's reasons for resigning but Alan was told to submit them in writing instead. He will remain as a city employee in the position he held before Dennis Gehrke resigned.

Police Chief Barney Issel said he had prepared an ordinance for the police reserve. He said he his working with the Oregon State Police and Gold Beach Police on standardizing a police pursuit policy. He said the radar gun will be in operation on Wednesday, June 12.

Ralph Donaldson said the city should consider an administrative assistant for the public works director.

Dotti Myers handled the management report which is prepared for the council. She said under questioning that the report is not for public or press consumption. It is for the council only. One thing that did come out of the "public" portion of the management report was that temporary judge appointee Lee Forrest has quit. His first session as municipal court judge was to have been on Tuesday, June 11. Forrest apparently got wind of a memo from one of our councilors about the court and decided he didn't want to have anything to do with the court.

Ron Mason, from C. Dean Mason Insurance spoke to the council about insurance for the police department. He said the policy was based on payroll. He said the reserves will be insured. There will be no additional premium on them because they are not paid and do not add to the payroll total. He said there would be a cap on a settlement if the city is sued because of the actions of the police or reserves thus preventing the city from being "broken".

Curry County Sheriff Lieutenant Mark Metcalf spoke to the council about the parent aid program. This is a drug testing program for children. It is voluntary and according to Metcalf only intended to give parents help. He said the information is confidential and won't be used in any criminal prosecution. He asked the council for $100 to help with the costs of the program. He said seven different drugs are tested for and each test costs $7.50. A motion was made and passed to donate $250 to the parent aid program.

The council voted to raise fire chief George Gehrke's salary by 6%. He was the only city employee who hadn't received a raise in the 1996-97 budget.

The council passed a motion to lease two pieces of undeveloped city owned property in Cedar Terrace to the Port Orford Rural Fire District for 50 years at the cost of $1 per year. The Rural Fire District will pay all costs incurred with the lease and construction of a fire station on the property.

The council agreed to a policy that all council meeting tape recordings will remain at the city office at all times.

Martha Weaver-Britell said the parks commission recommended steeper pitch on the roof at the visitor center when it is remodeled. The plans for the major remodeling of this building in Battle Rock Park will be on display at the Port Orford Library. A public hearing will be held on Monday, June 24, 6:30pm, for hearing public comment on the plans. The meeting will be followed by a council workshop session.

Chief Issel requested the council allow him to put 1 reserve police officer on duty immediately. Robert Warring said the city doesn't have a police procedures manual or reserves policy. He wants criteria for the reserves established first. A motion to put 1 reserve on duty went down to defeat by a 4-2 vote. A motion was then made to change the workshop meeting on June 24 to a special session with the police reserve as an agenda item.

Budget Falls

The council considered the 1996-97 budget under new business. A motion was made to approve the budget. It went down to defeat by a 4-2 vote. Councilors Donaldson, Eskelson, Warring and Weaver-Britell voted against adopting the budget while councilors Kennedy and Sparks voted for it. Weaver-Britell spoke against taking the 6% raise in the tax base. Donaldson proposed the following alternative: Take the tax base of $147,000. Take the part related to personal out of it which is $47,000. This leaves $100,000 in general fund items. Then deduct 2.5% out of the remaining items in the general fund thereby reducing the need for 6% tax raise to 3.5%. His motion to handle the budget in this manner failed. The budget then was added to the special session on June 24.

Lee Forrest's resignation as interim judge left the city without someone to handle the first evening of court scheduled for June 11. First the council looked to Norma House to handle the assignment for this one evening but she turned it down. Then the council looked to city manager Dotti Myers to be judge for a night. Then it was suggested Mayor Delaine Kennedy handle the job and she appointed herself with council approval as judge.

The City Council wants it known to all readers of this paper that the nuisance ordinance which a previous council passed in 1978 will be enforced now that we have a police department.

Alan Wagner presented a spare parts list of items needed by the public works department. A motion was made and passed to approve the expenditure for the spare parts.

A motion to approve up to $25,000 in expenditures for improvements at the water treatment plant were approved. They include among other things a cat-walk inside the plant.

And that, as they say, was that.

Bereavement Support Group

The regular meetings of the Bereavement Support Group will be on Fridays, June 14 and 28, at noon, in the Zion Lutheran Church, library room, 149 20th St, Port Orford.

Anyone who is grieving the loss of a spouse, child, relative, partner, or friend is invited. For more info, call Donna Smith at 332-1300 or Luana Berens, LCSW, at Curry County Home Health/Hospice at 247-7084 or 1-800-535-9472.

Microsoft Works 4.0
by Valeria Jean Kramer

The release of Microsoft Works 4.0 for Windows 95 has made learning the computer much easier and has significantly reduced the cost of software. The program is powerful enough for all but the most demanding jobs yet the extensive integrated help system and "wizards" (procedures that lead you step-by-step through the process of creating a particular type of document) make it easy for the beginner or casual user to perform complex tasks. When you consider you are getting a Word Processor, Spreadsheet, Database, and Modem program for just $59.95, you'll appreciate that Works is a real bargain.

When you start Works, you see the Task Launcher window. There are three tabs which let you open an existing document, access the basic "tools" (programs) that comprise the Works program, or invoke a wizard to create some specific type of document. There are Quite a few of these wizards. For example, the "Common Tasks" section includes wizards for address book, letter, letterhead, newsletter, resumé, and "start from scratch." Other sections provide wizards for correspondence, envelopes & labels, business management, household management, names & addresses, teachers & students, billing, employment, and civic/community activities.

The Works word processor is quite powerful. It includes most of the character, paragraph, tab, columns, and bullet formatting you will need for most common tasks. It offers spell checking and a thesaurus but not a grammar checker. Documents can include graphics, wordart, tables or charts, etc.

The word processor has a window in which you type and another window from which you can choose to get instructions on a variety of related tasks. For example, the help window as I type this offers instructions to: Name & save your document, see more of your document, type text, correct mistakes, copy or move text, change how text looks (bold, italic, size, fonts,...), indent, align, and space paragraphs, change margins and page orientation, work with borders, lines, and shading, add bulleted or numbered lists, add headers and footers, create envelopes or mailing labels, add pictures, charts, tables, and special text effects, and preview and print your document. A single click and you are off and learning from any of those topics.

The spreadsheet and database operate similarly and are similarly powerful. I haven't had occasion to try the moderm program but I assume it is comparable. If you ever do outgrow Works, you'll be happy to find that your knowledge will translate easily to using Microsoft Office Professional and its full power programs - Word, Excel, and Access.

In summary, Works gives you power, ease of learning and use, low price, and even an upgrade path to more power if necessary. What more could you want?

By Mary Yoder

Until a better word is found lets use this one. Hello only lasts for a minute. But say, there's a lot of cheer in it. I think when it come to real meaning there isn't a word like hello. So here's the old greeting - I mean it. With luck, cheer, and gladness - "Hello"

Lets see. Saturday, June 8 was the luncheon - right down my alley. Hamburgers, beans, salad, desert, cheese, pickles, all the good stuff - was it ever nice. The volunteers who did it were Norma Ellis, Thelma Lagace, Lorraine Hass, Peigie Stalh, Clare Stalh and Jim Galford. The rummage sale was the same day. Henery Kron, Leo Welch, Nadine Vile, Bobbetta Kron and what's his name - did their part. Then June 9th - the breakfast. About 140 served it was really special. Those volunteers were Gale Lee, Buddy Lee, Beth Newkirk, Bobbetta Kron, Betty Harper, Jim Galford, E. David Klein and Judy Peacock Klien.

The next luncheon is June 22 with the rummage sale the same day from 8 till 2. See you there.

Don't forget the dance will be June 29 - Memphis will play and all are welcome. You don't have to be a senior citizen to come.

The volunteer for the month of June is Dottie Clothier.

"Fairbooks" Out Now

"Fairbooks," officially titled Exhibitors Handbooks, are available throughout the county now, according to manager, Ron Crook, of the Curry County Fairgrounds.

The handbooks for making entries in the Fair are at Supermarkets, most drug stores, feed stores, some smaller grocery stores and several banks.

The theme this year is "Get Your Kicks in '96" at the Curry County Fair and Rodeo which is scheduled for July 25-28.

Exhibitors are getting entry numbers and papers now from the Fairgrounds. Entry numbers, tags and forms will be available for residents of the southern end of the county at Mory's and for northern county residents at the Coos-Curry Electric office in Port Orford. Exhibitor's Handbooks will be there as well as at supermarkets throughout the county by June 12th.

Entry forms for horses, livestock, poultry and rabbits as well as for the Parade are in the Exhibitor's Handbook.

The entry forms for animals are due in at the Fair office by July 9.

Letter To The Editor,

I want to give a big thank you to the folks who helped me put together a worm farm for Ophir School's 6th grade. Bartlett's Café collected coffee grounds, Sisters Natural Grocery/Café gave me a big bag of kitchen scraps, Buck's Sentry Deli donated a nice clean 5 gallon plastic tub, the Driftwood School library/Mrs. Wagner lent me three books and a poster about worms, and Port Orford library/Bonnie Wagner located two books, a brochure and an article on worms. Ron Adams helped me lug all the stuff around and donated some nice cowpats. It was an impressive recycling effort. But my worms did seem sad to leave me.

And thanks, too, to the kids at Ophir School. They made my day, especially when they all cooperated and ate a worm. (Don't panic! I fed them gummy worms. Honest.) Chris Vorster, their teacher, was enthusiastic and helpful which made the day even more successful.

May their Red Wigglers thrive and multiply!

Upon recommendation by Jerry Cox, District Testing Coordinator, the board voted to drop CTBS testing and instead to expand the use of state assessment testing in reading and math to all grades. State tests have previously only been given to grades 3, 5, 8, and 10.

The board unanimously approved the contract with the Port Orford-Langlois Teachers Association (POLTA). The union has already unanimously approved it. Contracts were also approved for the three school principals, and for Gloria Koski, Theresa Longton, and Justin Potter. The first meeting to begin working towards a new contract with the classified staff will be held June 25.

A resignation effective August 31 was accepted from Perry Pendergrass. Board Member Marilyn Haga also announced her resignation effective June 30 when it was originally scheduled to terminate. (Changes made to the election laws extended by one year the term of office for her and Board Chairman Larry Blount.)

Is there still time to build a Fish Box for the Derby on July 4th? If a golf ball with dimples will go farther than a golf ball that is smooth, will a Fish Box Racer go faster with dimples on it than one that is smooth? What color is the fastest color? Will a red car go faster than a white car? Or a green car? Will a short car go faster than a long car? Will a heavier racer go faster than a light racer? Is it better to sit up or lay down while racing down 11th? Will Grandpa Warren get Timmy's car ready by the 4th? Will Coquille Scouts come race their cars at Port Orford on the 4th? Will Hoyt's new racer be faster than Bobby Jean's new racer? Will the right lane be faster than the left land on 11th Street? Will there be a new starting gate? Will there be an inspection? Why do we need time trials? 2 cars will race at once....How will we get the cars back up the hill? Who will be the starter? Will they paint a finish line? Will they paint a line for two lanes? Will there be hay bales before we reach 101? Will Christian beat his father, Walter, or will Meghan beat them both with her secret car design? Will the Dishongs race this year? Will David Britton finish the Dingy Race in time to dry off before racing his new racer down 11th Street? Will any of the "generic" cars come back to life? Has the "Holy Roller been over modified? Will Lance Cox race this year?

Letter to the Editor,

The residents of Port Orford do not seem to be interested in how their tax rates go up. Last night, prior to the City Council Meeting, the council was deciding how much to raise the City Taxes and the taxpayers did not show up, to say what they thought.

The Mayor, the City Manager and some of the council members wanted to raise the tax rate by six percent (6%) Councilman Donaldson, suggested that the raise be only three and one half percent (3.5%).

Port Orford taxpayers, should know that if the city raised the tax rate six percent a year for the next ten years the City Taxes would increase by seventy nine point zero eight four eight percent (79.0848%). Can the taxpayers of Port Orford afford that type of an increase. Had the Council accepted Councilmen Donaldson's three point five percent (3.5%) increase, in the same ten years the City Tax Base would only increase by Fortyone point zero six percent (41.06%), which would cut the proposed increase almost in half. The Mayor, stated the difference between six percent and three and one half percent, was not enough to fight about.

The Budget and the Tax Base percentage will be up for vote on June 24, 1996, get involved, be at the meeting, let the City Council know what you will be able to afford.

Letter to the Editor,

The cougar can be an unwanted critter if it threatens livestock, is suspect of stalking children, attacks dogs and cats in our suburbs...moves into our territory where it is not welcome. Historically we put a bounty on its hide; more recently Oregon Fish and Wildlife issues hunting tags and defines the hunting season while the Animal Damage Control agency of the federal government trains professional hunters to track it down. The animal is so elusive it is claimed the only way to control it is by using hounds equipped with radio collars to signal a sighting and then a treeing to allow the hunter to step out with the rifle.

Apparently the cougar did not learn a lesson from the grizzly bear and the wolf which were both eliminated from the space that we took away from them. Cougar parents are not instructing their young to avoid our habitat. When they invade ours we respond by invading theirs. So today alarmed citizens and their political representatives want to restore tracking with hounds which was made illegal by Measure 18 two years ago. The actual killers are bees, rattlesnakes, lightning strikes, domestic dogs, kicking horses... There is no record of anyone being killed in Oregon by a cougar. We direct our fears towards a target that is specific but elusive and from our feelings of insecurity comes mileage to the political candidates who exploit them.

Good wildlife management should advance better methods of control than restoring the use of dogs and radio collars to a hunting practice that most sportsmen should condemn.

Letter to the Editor,

Have you got a broken arm? Finger? Hand? Can't get it x-rayed at the clinic? It's Dr. Pitchford's fault.

You may not have noticed yet but if you are one of Dr. Pitchford's patients, and most of us in this town are, you will not be able to get an x-ray or EKG or other services from the clinic and/or pay cash for the services. And it's all Dr. Pitchford's fault because he doesn't have his own x-ray machine or EKG equipment.

If Dr. Pitchford would just go away and take his professional, caring services from this community then the clinic would be able to provide all the services we need, and maybe even at the time when we need them.

CGH and the clinic do not understand that finally we have a doctor in town who is willing to provide the services and care we need. One who is willing to work with us and live with us. Finally we have a doctor who is not using us as a stepping stone to other, more lucrative positions as others have done.

Over the years we have had some very negative experiences at Curry General Hospital and we know it wasn't Dr. Pitchford's fault...even though they may want us to think it was.

Salmon, Surfing and Sailing

"Salmon, Surfing and Sailing" is this year's Port Orford Jubilee theme. Should make for some colorful parade entries. As in past years almost anything is a go in Port Orford's famous parade. Anyone can enter, so let your imagination take flight and be part of the fun.

Parade entries are due by June 30 in order for an entry to be judged. The competition in some categories this year is tough. So, if you dream of a ribbon for your effort, it's time to get those entry forms in.

To be a part of the fun, pick up a Parade Entry form in Port Orford at Chetco Federal Credit Union, First Interstate Bank, or the Chamber of Commerce office. For more information or to receive an entry form call Martha Weaver-Britell at 332-9775 or Pat Bry at 332-6774.
