Recreational Vehicle Parking By Evan Kramer

The Port Orford City Council met on Monday night with two council members absent and five people in the audience.

The council discussed the new Visitor Information Signs and signs for RV parking in the Battle Rock Park/Wayfinder vicinity. The city is concerned about RV's parking and turning around at the Wayfinder Site. Councilor Emily Francona asked Public Works Director Allan Wagner to identify other areas RVs could park. Wagner named Jackson Street on both sides of Highway 101 and Jefferson near the Wayfinder. The council came to a consensus that Wagner take action on behalf of the city to designate RV parking with signs directing traffic. He was directed to post "No RV Turnaround" signs at the park and check to see how they work out.

City Administrator Martha Weaver urged the council to move forward with the Water Master Plan. The last completed one is dated 1995. Councilor Jane Cramer made a motion that the city starts moving forward with a new updated Water Master Plan and it passed 4-0. Martha Weaver spoke about the need for the city to develop a water conservation/curtailment program in light of this being a drought year. The council consensus was to make the Water Master Plan number one on the council goals and add the water conservation to water goals.

Mayor Gary Doran appointed Marilyn Green and James Billings to the Parks Commission. Jane Cramer made a motion to accept the mayor's appointments and it passed 4-0.

The Mayor then read by title Ordinance No. 2001-03 – An Ordinance establishing a general penalty; establishing a general severability clause; and defining the effect of repeal of city ordinances. Councilor Francona asked what the purpose of the ordinance was and Police Chief Bill Rush came forward to the microphone to explain it. He said the city needed a general penalty clause and that the city could fall back on this ordinance in enforcement of other city ordinances. Rush said city attorney Randal Tosh was surprised the general penalty clause wasn't in other ordinances. Councilor Carl Eskelson made a motion to adopt Ordinance 2001-2003 and it passed 4-0.

Councilor Cramer, who is the council liaison to the Port District, spoke about her recent meeting with Dick Hill at the Port, concerning the public fishing dock. Hill is developing a master plan for the Port. Cramer said the Port had a lot of problems and encouraged people to attend the next Port meeting on Tuesday, March 20, 7:00pm, at the port office.

Mayor Doran reported on some of his meetings including one about getting a used vehicle for the police department to replace one of the city's high mileage police cars. He attended the Curry Governments meeting and an ODOT meeting concerned with the highway plan.

Martha Weaver said four Pacific High School students are working on a web site for the city. Some of the ideas for things to put on the web site include the council agenda and minutes, profiles of the council and mayor, and eventually the codebook.

Councilor Cramer asked about the recent meeting between Water Master Lloyd Van Gordon and Allan Wagner and Martha Weaver concerning Gold Run Creek. Wagner replied that the city water right is still good and it is possible to develop it. Wagner said they measured a 175-gallon per minute flow at Gold Run Creek. He added that the ODF&W and the Division of State Lands could hold the city up on this project.

The next regular council meeting is scheduled for Monday, April 9, 7:00pm.

Port News
By Evan Kramer

Two Laskey-Clifton employees have been busy retrofitting the commercial boat crane at the dock. They have received the parts for the new hydraulics and were busy installing them on Monday and Tuesday. According to Laskey-

Clifton foreman Tom Wright the new hydraulics will at minimum double the speed of the crane.

The Port District is under pressure for the commercial boat crane to get up and running. A representative from OSHA paid an inspection visit to the Port last week and red tagged the Laskey-Clifton temporary crane. Little Jo II as the temporary crane is known will be taken out of service on Friday afternoon for mandatory repairs.

Wright said the Port had not signed a change order for the work that Laskey-Clifton was providing. He expected they would at a meeting on Friday, March 16. Wright didn't think the commercial boat crane would be ready on Friday afternoon when Little Jo II gets taken out of service. This means there may be a gap between the temporary crane being taken out of service and the new one going back online. Among other things a weight test has to be conducted on the new crane.

Stand or Bend By Graeme Graydon

I keep coming across people, well informed people who are of the opinion that our world as we know it, is not going to stay the same. They study things like climate change, loss of topsoil, new diseases, the myth of health care. They notice what is happening to our food supply, they watch the Chinese getting ready to blow Taiwan out of the water, they see what is happening in society, to our children, to ordinary people. A biggie is corporate power and greed motivated everything by those who govern all the way to those who are governed. It does look a bit bleak, especially if you spend a lot of time on the Net. I noticed one change – all our friendly bankers suddenly upped their charges without giving me anything in return affirming their right to make better use of my money for themselves. Yes, it is getting tougher and it is harder to see improvement anywhere – which brings me to my point.

A lot of people thought their world was going down the tubes at Y2K. Some took extreme measures to protect themselves from the changes. After the experience some realized that there is no protection from outside changes, and that there is a kind of isolation, a rigidity in trying to hang on to the old ways. A Chinese sage said, “Be like the bamboo in your ways. When storm comes, the taller you are, the lower you bend. When storm goes, stand tall again.

I remember farming through a period of drought. It was heart-breaking to see my beautiful paddocks all browned off, with little reserves for the winter. One good farmer in my district became so despondent that he shot himself – unable to accept what was happening and overwhelmed by his own preoccupation with what had gone wrong. The rains came again (after 3 years) and life became easier, but he missed that part.

When the “you know what” hits the fan, and there’s nothing that I can do about it, there is in fact, something to be done. I have to choose whether to be devastated or hurt or offended, or agree that it (the you know what) really stinks but it’s the way it is and it’s no use my complaining or worrying about it and I’ll see if I can find a better way, starting right here in the middle of it. Worrying or being pessimistic creates a veil through which everything work, play, relationships, even love is diminished and not fully experienced. I have been there – it’s a pretty dismal place and no fun for anyone around. After I learned to accept that worrying doesn’t make anything better, the big problems didn’t go away, but I found that I could change little things and before I knew it, I would be in balance again.

I was told of a martial-arts class which had been compulsory for the participants. Amongst all the gung-ho warriors was a little old man who when squared-off with an opponent, nimbly slipped out of the way of the attack – each time. His lack of combativeness infuriated his classmates. He had this rule – First do not get hurt, so he won – every time.

Gun Club News

By Bill Oleson

Our club was well represented at the last Pacific International Trap meet held at Del Norte Trap club north of Crescent City. Rudi Breuer shot a 96/100 16 yard score and was outscored by Clint Messner, North Bend, 98/100. Breuer rebounded by winning the mid-yardage 22-24 yard handicap event, 96/100. The trophy was a huge walnut turtle. Jim Harrison scored 100/100 in Saturday's 16 yard singles event and was tied by Del Norte's Kevin Day. They agreed that the winner of Sunday's singles event would settle the shoot-off. Day won with a 100/100 against Harrison's 99/100. Harrison won a punch to the 27 yard handicap line in Sunday's Handicap event. Every trap shooter strives to reach the 27 yard line – very few qualify.

Last Sunday's trap meet was held in sunshine and gusty wind. Targets looked like yo-yos and were unpredictable. Jim Patridge, Bandon and Robert McKenzie III tied with 47/50 scores. McKenzie won the shoot-off on the 16 yard singles line. Jim Harrison, John Paulus, North Bend and George Millen, Coos Bay tied for runner-up. The handicap event was won by Jim Harrison; Rudi Breuer was runner-up.

After a year of planning including recruiting of potential pistol club members, drafting of building plans and research of possible range layouts, the Club has decided to discontinue. We have been informed that after legal reviews and as a leaseholder our lease does not allow us to include a pistol range. Letters have been sent to all who signed showing interest. If anyone has been overlooked please contact Oleson at 332-9535.

Thank you Thomas Tuomey for your donation to Cape Blanco's doughnut jar.

Funding Commitment Letter

The following is a letter from Representative Peter DeFazio to Port of Port Orford Manager Mike Nielson dated March 6, 2001.

Dear Mr. Nielson:

I was very concerned to read in the February 28, Port Orford News, that you were expecting a "funding commitment letter for $300,000" from me to obligate federal funds for needed repairs to the Port Orford dock. As of the date of this letter, I have not had formal contact from the Port detailing the need for additional funding. As you may know, I have been a strong supporter of the Port's dock replacement project for years, securing $2.3 million in federal funds for the project. I continue to support the project and agree that fishermen and the community stand to benefit greatly from it. The community has invested significant time and money in the project as well and deserve a fully functional dock.

However, I do not have authority to commit the additional funds. Any additional funding must be approved by Congress or the appropriate federal agency, which takes significant time and effort. I have yet to receive from the Port, a detailed accounting of the need for additional funds and the reasons for cost over-runs. Further, it is my understanding that there is a dispute over the reasons for the funding shortfall. This will make any effort to secure additional federal funds difficult.

At this time, I do not have the information I would need to make a case for additional funds.

I welcome the opportunity to discuss this issue further. Ron Kreskey and Kathie Eastman of my staff are available to assist in your efforts to complete the project.

Sincerely,

Peter DeFazio
Member of Congress

The following is a copy of a letter given to us on Monday, March 12 by Port Commissioner David Darnell, dated March 9.

Dear Congressman DeFazio:

I am speaking as a Commissioner of the Port of Port Orford as well as an individual of this voting district. I send my deepest apologies to you and regret the actions taken by some constituents based on so called concerns without full knowledge of the facts.

It is well know that you have strongly supported our Port project and have been significant in acquiring needed funding and we are well aware that you are dedicated to its completion. Without your advocacy, it would have been impossible to rebuild this dock and make this Port a safe and secure harbor.

Published articles have been taken out of context and stir unnecessary controversy. Please know, that the people in support of the Port far outnumber those who choose to create adversity. This is an election year for Port Commissioners and small town politics and attitudes do not always take the road that best services the district as a whole.

Again, my sincerest apologies and my continued support in your efforts on behalf of the Port of Port Orford.

Sincerely,

David Darnell
Port Commissioner

New at the Library

By Paula Cracas

It must have been a cold winter elsewhere in the United States forcing a bunch of popular authors to stay inside, hunker down, and write. They have published books that will have mystery fans breaking down our doors at the Port Orford Library.

Get ready, get set, go down to the library if you want to be first in line to get your hands on: The Cat Who Smelled a Rat by Lillian Jackson Braun. Did the cat do it? Or did a bear? Find out in Nevada Barr's newest thriller: Blood Lure. If not the cat, then the birds? The answer to that is in

J.A. Jance's mystery: Birds of Prey. Attention fast readers. There are all 7-day books.

A Painted House by John Grisham (a real change of pace for him) and Code to Zero about Cape Canaveral, Explorer I, and the Cold War (why don't they every call them Hot Wars?) by Ken Follett are 7-day books also.

For those who enjoyed Waiting to Exhale by Terry McMillan, her newest novel: A Day Late and a Dollar Short is waiting for you. Along with shelves of new books we just got catalogued.

For a change of pace, if you happen to have 1,200 United Airlines Miles you'd like to donate to the library, we will use them to subscribe to Talk magazine. More details from Tobe Porter, our wonderful library director.

It's not too early to mark your calendar for the next Story Stew Family Storytime. How does April 5 sound? Like months and months away? Nope, it's just around the corner. The theme is "Creepy Crawlies." Wow, could that mean worms? I love worms! Maybe there will be worm cookies for refreshments? Be sure you request them when you come in to check us out.

RAD to the Redwoods By Cathy Boden

Four RAD Club students graciously invited 20 students and two instructors from the Rachael Carson Environmental Center of Churchill High School in Eugene to stay in Port Orford to kick off a three-day weekend in the Redwoods, February 17-19. Audra Loeber, Ian Ranney, Andy Gaffer, and back visiting from Bandon High School Rachel Fliszar provided dinner for the crew at the Adventure Center in Buffington Park. After dinner we hosted a night hike with special permission from Frank Eckley, Park Manager at Port Orford Heads State Park. We hiked the paved trail out to the point and marveled at the nighttime ocean view and recognized a few constellations while we were getting to know each other. Back at the A-Frame the Eugene folks laid out their sleeping bags for a big sleep over.

Near the crack of dawn we loaded up the Eugene buses and headed south to the Smith River and Stout Grove. Here we had our first walk amongst the big giants. We drove along Howland Hill Road surrounded by the Coast Redwoods which are the world's tallest known trees reaching 368 feet; taller than their cousins the Giant Sequoia, which are bigger around but only reach 320 feet. For reference the Statue of Liberty is only 305 feet. These trees can live more than two thousand years!

Along the road we stopped at the Boy Scout Trail and did a solo hike where we read brief interpretive cards placed on the trail. These cards helped us to experience the forest in different ways. We were reminded to look up, listen to the sounds, smell the moss, and also gave us amazing facts about these trees. Did you know there are only 5% of the original Redwood forests left? That Redwoods need fog to survive, and can hold up to 3,000 gallons of water a day? We also read short quotes from naturalists like John Muir and Aldo Leopold. Many of the kids had never spent time alone in any forest, and all came away with positive feedback from this experience.

We spent the next two nights at the Redwoods Youth Hostel south of Crescent City. We learned about the International Hostel experience and helped with the cleaning chores, which make the cost of staying there more affordable.

Our full day was spent hiking in the Prairie Creek area of the Redwoods National Park. We hiked a ten-mile loop including a beautiful walk through Fern Canyon. The trail drops into a narrow gorge cut deep by the creek. The walls are covered with ferns. Several creek crossings are part of the challenge of this stretch.

One part of the trip that can't go unmentioned is how fun it was for 24 high school students to storm Safeway, plan and buy food to prepare for 28 people.

The RAD Outdoor Club is sponsored by the North Curry Families and Children's Center. For more information on how you can help support our outings, or join in the club activities please call Cathy Boden at NCFCC at 332-1042.

Letter to the Editor,

Background investigation into the February 23 report of suspicious tennis ball:

Ace Luv, the leader of a notorious tennis ball gang, rolled into town in the early evening of the 23rd looking for a new racket.

He was a product of a troubled home life. His father was a golf ball and spent all of his life being driven around expensive country clubs by some very rich men. This troubled Ace a lot.

His mother was a basketball and spent all of her time being handled by very tall and handsome young men. She was passed from man to man, and when she was worn out, and they were unable to score with her, she was tossed aside.

His sister, a football, spent every Sunday being grabbed by some very large and sweaty men who tried to score with her as much as possible. She was kicked around so much that she just blew up.

So Ace was angry when he bounced into Port Orford. But he made a mistake: he picked the wrong town. The police netted him when he crossed the line, and put him back in the can where he will serve out his sentence.

Justice prevails.

Letter to the Editor,

Just a quick note to all the citizens of our community. At the time of our organization's decision to put on the bingo benefit for Jacob Belcher we were not aware that there are actually two local boys planning to attend the Boy Scout Jamboree in Virginia this summer. When Jacob approached our group for help, we had not yet selected a cause for the spring bingo so we decided to designate the net proceeds to help him.

We would not intentionally disregard any local charitable cause if we know about the situation and are in a position to help. The reason for all our fundraisers, including the bingo bashes, is so that we can help in situations like this. E.S.A. limits the number of bingo functions that we put on as we want the bingo nights to be special events that are well attended. In addition, they are a lot of work and expense to our members.

We are very sorry that Jason Royal was not included. If we had known of his plans and he had contacted us, the bingo bash would be for the benefit of both boys. We strongly believe in the merits of Scouting.

We hope that Jason will contact E.S.A. and the other various Port Orford organizations for help to attend the Jamboree.

All of our community organizations work hard for the betterment of our community.

Sincerely,

The Board of E.S.A. Sorority

Lois Crum Wins Megabucks

Port Orford resident Lois Crum is Oregon's newest millionaire. Crum won $1.25 million in the Saturday night Megabucks lottery. She had purchased a $4 quick pick ticket a few days previous at the Circle K store where she is the manager.

Lois chose the 20-year payoff option rather than the lump sum when she bought the ticket. She just turned 65 years old this month and said she would be getting a nice birthday present in the coming years. Lois and her husband Jerry were planning on heading up to lottery headquarters in Salem early this week with the winning ticket and will receive their first payment. Meanwhile well wishers were pouring into Circle K to congratulate Lois. Congratulations Lois!

Brain Awareness Week

By Tobe Porter, Library Director

Langlois and Port Orford Public Libraries are joining organizations throughout the state during March 12-18 to raise awareness about the progress and benefits of brain research for young children. Designated by Governor John A. Kitzhaber as Brain Awareness Week, the state's celebration is led by Oregon's Child: Everyone's Business, a collaboration of state agencies, health professionals, and local community organizations promoting the healthy development of young children.

Brain Awareness Week is intended to bring attention to the numerous discoveries about the workings of the brain in the past ten years. Chief among them is how millions of connections are made in the brain during a child's environment, including reading with a child.

Letter to the Editor,

I was sorry to hear that there was a theft at Halstead's Equipment rental recently. I guess in a small town every robbery seems very personal because we know the people involved and value every one of the small businesses that offer services to us. It is difficult enough to keep a business going in such a small town, but a robbery can really hurt. In fact I've heard rumors of a couple of businesses that have considered closing because they have been broken into so many times.

Halstead's has been very generous in the short time they have been in business in Port Orford. They have donated the use of equipment and machinery for many weekends for use in building the Port Orford Community Skate Park. The Skate Park would not be possible without their generosity. We have very limited funds and could certainly not afford to rent the equipment needed. A big thanks to Halstead's and if you have any information concerning the theft, contact them and help out a really good community orientated business. There is a reward being offered.

ALF Open House By Evan Kramer

Curry Health District threw an advance preview for its Shore Pines Assisted Living Facility (ALF) in Gold Beach on Sunday. It was quite a party as hundreds of people showed up for a personal tour of the doughnut shaped facility (more like a square doughnut), a free lunch and drawings to win a VCR and a television set.

Valerie and I were given a tour and with it a chance to see the building, which is far from being completed. We were shown the future library, television and activities room, laundry and whirlpool rooms which are located close to the lobby and dining room. Further down the hall we got a chance to see the first of 43 rooms which include "deluxe studios" and "one bedroom suites." The studio rooms are one room with a bathroom and are 308 square feet in size. They rent for $1795 per month. One-bedroom suites, which are 409 square feet, go for $2095 per month and double occupancy adds $600 to the cost of a room. Each room comes with a microwave oven but the staff provides all meals. Our guide told us that 22 out of the 43 rooms are already reserved. She went on to say the reason for holding the advance preview before the building was complete was to have it as close to full when it opened for occupancy.

There are four personal levels of care, which can be purchased at Shore Pines in addition to the basic services. As people reserve their room at Shore Pines they are assessed and assigned a level of care. Some of the Basic Services include three meals a day, weekly housekeeping and linen service, scheduled transportation and an on-site beauty and barbershop.

Curry Health District owns Shore Pines with construction funds loaned to the District by the United States Department of Agriculture. Sun West will manage Shore Pines for Curry Health District.

By the way, the free lunch was very nice. There were the fixings for sandwiches, lots of fruits and vegetables, dips, cookies, and things to drink. The only problem was the paper plates provided were too small requiring multiple trips through the line.
