Heat Wave Port Orford Style By Evan Kramer

Last week's half inch of rain that fell in Port Orford was a brief respite before the Oregon coast version of a heat wave hit this past weekend and continued through Monday. Temperatures on Sunday soared all over the west coast of the United States and hit 107 degrees in Escondido, California (thanks Ron Cohen for the info) to 96 degrees in San Francisco. Temperatures in Port Orford varied from the beach inland up Elk River where it always seems to get hotter and also rains in greater quantities. The City of Port Orford Public Works Department keeps a daily record of the high and low temperatures in the city plus the daily rainfall which they record at the water treatment plant in Buffington Park. Sunday September 30 the City recorded 77 degrees, which was the second highest temperature of the month. On September 8 it got up to 84 degrees. The Public Works Department recorded 0.24 inches of rain for September so the City of Port Orford water restrictions will remain in effect.

Sixes resident DeBoyd Smith keeps weather statistics at his house and shared them with me for September. Sunday September 30 the temperature at his place was 88.7 degrees while the high for the month was recorded on September 8 when the thermometer hit 95.7. DeBoyd said he recorded .35 inches of rain in September at his place which is seven miles east of Highway 101.

Sunday was a great day to get outdoors and that's what many people did, from hunters to hikers. The parking lot was crowded at Paradise Point in the afternoon with those taking in the massive waves. Malcolm Young and I and Honeybear the dog set out from Paradise Point State Park and walked north almost to the mouth of the Elk River. Along the way we saw a couple of other people walking dogs and several folks out enjoying the weather on ATV's. Walking on soft sand is tiring for me and by the time we got back to the truck and headed for home my feet were sore and it felt good to sit for awhile. Honeybear drank too much ocean water with her fresh water though she was the only person or animal brave enough to go in the water and get soaked.

Port Orford City Hall council chambers and into the larger and newly renovated Community Building. The Community Building keeps getting better. On Monday Clyde Woodley was over there painting in the interior of the building and now the iron building supports are painted (the same color as the outside of the building).

Another treat this year is that several local citizens, from what my sources tell me, have donated large amounts of good quality books from their personal libraries. Port Orford may not have a year round bookstore but it has a wonderful year round public library with many thousands of books, magazines, newspapers and books on tape and CD. We also have our "temporary" bookstore thanks to the Friends of the Library this Saturday so don't miss this opportunity to go buy some good books.

Tall Tales Festival

The 293rd Annual "Hathaway Jones Tall Tales Festival" is scheduled for Saturday, October 13, in Gold Beach. The focus of this incredibly unique and humorous event is the storytelling itself but there are many, many other activities awaiting your participation. This years sponsors are The Curry Historical Society, Gold Beach Chamber of Commerce, Gold Beach Adventures, Port Hole Café, Curry Guides Association, Rogue River Mail Boats and Jerry's Rogue Jets.

Spokesperson Shannon 'Doc' Hughes says, "This festival is what good old-fashioned family fun is all about. You'll hear the likes of Sue "The Master" Johnson, Cody "The Truth" Williams, Eli "The Elegant" Nourse, Tim "The Pastor" Brueckner, Bernice "Rogue River Rose" Torrez and many many more! We don't encourage lying but we do discourage the truth."

As always the festival will be held at the 'Event Center on the Beach'. Doors open at 9:00am and the storytelling finalists will dazzle the crowds from 7:00-9:00pm. Celebrity judges from all over Southern Oregon will decide who gets the big prizes, which range from a 'new car and kayak' to cash awards and Myrtlewood plaques for the top contestants in all three divisions (youth, intermediate and adult).

Throughout the day and into the evening guests will enjoy music from five local groups, master storytellers, skits and an 'Open Mike' hour. Breakfast, a pie social and the ever popular and legendary 'Sloppy Jones and Hathaway Dawgs' will be available to fill your tummies. There will be a writing contest, coloring contest, Dutch oven cooking demonstration and a reader board/window display contest. Call the Gold Beach Visitors Center at 247-7526 or 1-800-525-2334 for information and entry forms.

Pearl Harbor II By Ian Ranney

Heads fall and tears cover the ground as the United States mourns over the numbers of people who died due to the terrorist attacks upon our nation.

Early in the morning on Tuesday, September 11, the nation was under attack. Terrorism wreaked havoc upon our country. Four planes were hijacked and put on a course of mass destruction and chaos. The World Trade Center and the Pentagon were both struck by hijacked planes.

Two of the hijacked planes struck the Twin Towers. The first one hit and the second one about 20-30 minutes later. Shortly after the buildings were struck by hijacked planes, they crumbled to the ground. Wednesday morning the City of New York announced there were 41 confirmed deaths and 6 survivors pulled from the remains of the two buildings. Approximately 400 firefighters went into the buildings before they collapsed and an estimated 200 of those firefighters perished when the buildings turned to rubble.

The fourth, fifth and sixth corridors of the Pentagon were struck by the third hijacked plane. There is expected to be approximately 800 casualties from this incident. This made a major blow to the nation's military. Marine Corps Recruit Depot in San Diego, California went on lockdown. No vehicles or personnel were permitted to enter or leave the base. Many military installations across the country took the same or similar precautions against another.

The terrorism did not affect only the military, but it also had a huge impact on the civilian world. The stock market closed along with Greyhound Bus services, Disneyland, Sea World, and Disney World. All airlines in the United States and Canada were placed on hold. The planes about to take off were stopped on the runway and evacuated. The planes were not even towed back to the base of the airport.

Another hijacked plane en route to Camp David crashed into a field in Pennsylvania. Although the plane did not complete its objective, it still claimed lives and added more devastation to the nation.

The island of Manhattan was shut down by the crisis. All bridges, tunnels, and subways leading into or out of the island were closed.

All major league baseball games were postponed until further notice. Federal buildings across the country were shut down, colleges and universities nationwide also shut down.

So as the nation wakes up from the dream of invincibility, tears begin to pour, and tensions grow high as revenge rages through the minds of the victims' families and concerned citizens across the nation.

This sudden attack upon our country has been called a modern reenactment of Pearl Harbor.

State Park Programs

I want to publicly thank the many people who helped make the programs at Humbug Mountain State Park a success this year. Mr. Walt Schroeder gave a wonderful slide presentation on the Coast trail in Curry County. Ms. Joanne Ruoff has been very gracious and informative while bringing her friend Smokey Bear for a couple of valuable visits. While camping here, Mr. John Russo, a California State Park Ranger, gave a delightful impromptu presentation about Cim, his bomb sniffing dog. Mr. R. Bateman, geologist, brought a couple boxes of rocks and baffled us with the wondrous mother earth. Mr. Frank Burris gave an electrifying talk and video on the Northern Lights. Ms. Shirley Nelson had a wealth of interesting facts on lighthouses across the United States. Ms. Brenda Mitchell and Ms. Elaine Owen joyfully shared their knowledge, teaching the visitors how to spin wool. Mr. Dale Lee brought baskets of mushrooms and carefully showed what we should look for and what to look out for on our forest strolls. The Coast Guard gave an interesting presentation on their truck full of life saving equipment. Dan Neal of Hardin Optical gave a slide show on the night sky and let us look through his huge telescope. Including the in house programs, there were a total of 87 programs with 1214 visitors in two summer months. Next year we hope to have more programs with more tourists and townfolk enjoying them.

Special whole hearted thanks to Bob and Jeri Sutton for donating prizes for the Junior Program. Bob brought in a sack of arrowheads he made. Jeri brought a few dozen beautiful sand dollars that she had cleaned and bleached. Hope you have a nice winter,

Travel Notes By Graeme Graydon

The Azores are a scattering of nine small islands spread out over 400 miles. They are the tips of great underwater mountains, born of volcanic violence from the Mid-Atlantic Ridge, some 800 miles west of Portugal and 2,800 miles from Boston. A commuter aircraft carried me from San Miguel, the largest island, to my present home, an outrageously lush, dot-on-the-map, the 10x13 mile island of Faial. The most hair-raising part of my whole journey was the ride from Faial Airport in a taxi. The driver, who fancied himself as a Motor Rally driver, maintained a steady 50-60 mph regardless of the road surface, (awful), the very narrow, winding village streets, people, homes or other vehicles. It was white knuckle time all the way. Surprisingly, I have little sense of being on an island. High cliffs rise massively out of the surf. There are very few beaches. The land sweeps up in the center over 3,000 feet to a mile-wide green crater. The houses, city buildings and churches, underneath their immaculate pastel stucco, are solidly built of lava blocks or today's concrete blocks with roofs of bright orange tile – it looks very Mediterranean. But the attention-getter is the patchwork quilt of hedges, fields and gardens. The fields are tiny, really small, hedged with a 12 foot tall reed – almost like a bamboo. Every hedge, roadside, is crammed with hydrangeas, millions of them, just past their full-flowering, giving cause for Faial to be named “the Blue Island.” In 15 years, this Asian import has suppressed a large percentage of native plants. What gorse is to Curry County – hydrangeas are to Faial.

I live on a steep road that drops to the ocean. There are a few dozen modern villas, some old cottages and some ancient farm structures – but the gardens. I have to tell you about the garden. There are bananas and rose, grapes and geraniums, kiwi-fruit and dahlias, mangoes, avocados, hebe from New Zealand, Norfolk pines, beautiful chestnuts, bougainvilleas, cabbage, guava, pumpkin, figs, rubber trees, maize and sweet corn, wisteria and hibiscus. Four o'clocks are regarded as roadside weeds and morning glory is simply an invading menace.

Amaryllis lilies, like some exotic weed are poking up everywhere with their strident pink trumpets. It is as if all the world's favorite plants have migrated here and gone crazy. There are plantations of Japanese Cryptomeria – used for framing, floors and cabinetry, forests of Australian Pittosporum, Eucalyptus and Acacia.

The island exports cheese – there's a good sized cheese factory and a lot of wine is produced, much of it distilled into a local specialty, by just about anyone. It is called angelica, a kind of brandy that varies according to the skill of its maker from mild to potent. I was shown a still today, built into the concrete wall of a shed. Its owner uses “just about everything” from his extensive gardens to make a batch. I noticed a new copper still in the hardware store.

Along with the modern tractors, busses and Japanese imports on the narrow roads, I've seen people riding side-saddle on donkeys and horses. My hosts drive me around in a Citroen-Mohari – a small yellow plastic jeep powered by a BMW motorcycle engine. We carry rain slickers to wear in the car so that we can arrive reasonably dry.

A neighbor popped in today after work, (I'm painting the house) and casually mentioned that a hurricane was on its way. When? Oh, tomorrow sometime. Guess where all the hurricanes go after they're beaten up on the U.S. East Coast? Felix clipped the island just a week ago.

Notice!

We regret the necessity but in our eleven years here, this is only the second change for most of these items. Thank you for your understanding.

Senior News By Mary Yoder

September 27 was Rotary luncheon – volunteers working were Ed Dowdy, Nancy Dowdy, Savannah Tremmel, Marie Eldridge and Pat Grady. Savannah Tremmel with the help of Lila Sarratt set up the dining room – Ed Dowdy was head cook – over all – Marie and Pat doing dishes, etc. All did a fine job. The luncheon was excellent. Hope they get together again.

September 29 was you know what – everyone brought something to eat. Thelma Lagace was in charge – others working were Jane Black, Mark Murray, Savannah Tremmel, Margaret Lagace. The food was super. Yes and two people brought deviled eggs. It couldn't have been a nicer potluck. I know I was there. If you missed it I'm sorry for you.

The rummage sale was open. Kay Neal, Savannah Tremmel and Mark Murray worked. Things were really nice and people were buying. People asked me when is the next potluck?

Monday October 1 pinochle at 7:00pm.

Tuesday October 9 is board meeting at 11:00am also hearing aid and blood pressure from 9:30 to 11:00am.

One thing we now have 140 members with dues paid. I'd like to see the number to raise at least 10 by Halloween. Can it be done? Let's wait and see. Due are $3.00 – that's for a whole year.

Just found out. Katrina Montgomery was High, Betty Keeler second and Jean Shank low at pinochle. Also Katrina had a perfect hand. Good going or should I say playing Katrina. All had a fun time.

So many volunteers worked in the rummage room. I don't have all the names

North Curry Libraries
by Tobe Porter, Library Director

For me, September was the best of times, it was the worst of times. It was the month of end-of-year reports which meant two of everything. But, it was also the time for picnics to honor our volunteers. Port Orford Library held a picnic at Humbug State Park on Sept. 15. Despite world gloom and gloomy weather, we had a grand time. The food was delicious, we made sure there were more desserts than savory dishes, and a rousing game of Bocci Ball was held. Jon Porter was just edged out by Sally and John Johnston's son, Todd. On hand were members of the Library and Library Foundation Boards, some of the Friends of the Library and most of the "Front Line Volunteers." The next weekend the weather was less gloomy as community members gathered on the site of the new Langlois Library. Folks sat on hay bales and listened to the oh so sweet sounds of "The Loons" while enjoying home grown burgers and lamb donated by local ranchers. Everyone enjoyed a close look at the new library construction and the chance to meet members of the Library and Library Foundation Boards.

I gave a little speech at each picnic because I like to try to say out loud how much it means to have such dedicated and talented volunteers working at our libraries. They do everything—from telling stories, to sorting books, to building bookcases, to handling reference questions, to building libraries. They are the backbone of these two fine libraries. The staff at each library joins me in thanking all of you for another great year. You are the best!

cluding those related to the Port, School District, Parks, Strategic Planning, Community Music Night, Arts Festival and 150th Celebration for the paper in addition to her weekly interview column. She indicated in her letter a lack of enjoyment for covering all the meetings and said she preferred to cover "fun things" which is understandable. I'm going to miss having her to talk to at the Port and other meetings we attended in common.

Oregon Fall Beach Cleanup

In keeping with calls from President George Bush and Governor John Kitzhaber for all of America to continue on in spite of recent tragedies inflicted upon our Country, SOLV has asked that this year's Fall Beach Cleanup be a national demonstration of civic engagement.

"Volunteerism and community are basic foundations which help define America and its people", says Jack McGowan, SOLV's Executive Director. "Activities like Oregon's famed Beach Cleanups can now be viewed as demonstrations of our collective resolve to continue on as a healthy society in spite of these acts against our country. Let's make this year's Beach Cleanup one of the biggest ever."

Saturday, October 6, marks the day for the 18th Annual Great Oregon Fall Beach Cleanup. Thousands of volunteers who care about Oregon's livability are needed to help at the state's beaches from 10:00am to 1:00pm to clean the entire coastline between the Washington and California borders. Volunteers are asked to check in at one of 40 meeting sites, pick up a bag, and head down to the beach to do their part in improving our coastline for wildlife and visitors. Coordinators of the event suggest volunteers bring gloves, and wear sturdy shoes. Complimentary bags will be furnished via beach cleanup coordinators. Groups of 20 or more are asked to register in advance with the appropriate Zone Captain.

We want to emphasize Volunteer Safety this fall more than ever," says Jack McGowan. "Knowledge of beach safety and adherence to some basic guidelines can help reduce the potential for accidents and injuries." Volunteers are requested to be aware of these safety tips while on the beach:

Don't turn your back on the ocean-watch out for sneaker waves. Don't play on or around logs. Exercise extreme caution on rocks and cliffs.

During the Great Oregon Spring Beach Cleanup, 4,000 volunteers removed nearly 16 tons of debris from our beaches. Last Fall's Cleanup attracted 6,000 volunteers who removed 17 tons of trash. This event, started in 1984 in Oregon, has spread to 55 states and US territories and 90 foreign countries. In 2000, 844,000 volunteers picked up 13.5 million pounds of trash from 20,000 miles of coastline worldwide.

SOLV is a statewide organization founded in 1969 by Governor Tom McCall and other community leaders to act as a catalyst in linking business, government, and citizens in preserving the livability of Oregon. SOLV's mission is to build community through volunteer action to preserve this treasure called Oregon.

The meeting site in Bandon for Zone 12 is at "The Barn" in City Park. The meeting site for Zone 13, which covers the area south of the Sixes River to Ophir, is Battle Rock Park.

Letter to the Editor,

This is to say thank you from the bottom of my heart for all the phone calls, cards, notes, flowers, gifts of love, and prayers that so many of you sent me during the last two weeks. I am so blessed to live in such a caring place. "Friends are angels who lift us to our feet when our own wings have trouble remembering how to fly." (Quote by Saul Millstein). Thank you dear friends.

Love,

Astrid Battle
