Council Searches for New Police Chief By Evan Kramer

The Port Orford City Council met in regular session on Monday night. Public Works director Jerry McNurlin was absent and Mayor Doran reported that public works department has been very busy with several water line breaks including one at 25th and Deady Streets. One break caused at least 100 people to be without water. These breaks have caused the crew to work many extra hours. Thank you.

Jim Rhodes, representing Port Orford Ambulance, told the council the group had lost their franchise for this area as of July 1, 1997. He requested the council let them retain use of the ambulance chute for continuing education for the next six months. The council passed a motion allowing the P.O. Ambulance to continue using the chute for six months for continuing education.

Curt Warbler spoke to council about the Highway 101 scenic byway planning process. Warbler works for the Parametrics Company, which was hired by the Oregon Department of Transportation. The purpose of the study is to determine if Highway 101 is eligible to be a National Scenic Byway. It is already a State Scenic Byway. He told them there is a local group headed by Joan Geiser working on the portion of the study from the Curry County line to Humbug Park.

City parks planning director Jason Seivers presented the council with the final draft of the first Port Orford Parks, Recreation and Open Space Plan. Seivers enlisted the help of the community in writing the plan. 64 citizens filled out the parks and recreation survey. Their ideas, suggestions and comments became part of the plan. Councilor Sparks was concerned the plan would overwhelm the city public works department but Seivers countered that the document was only a plan. Councilor Warring made a motion to accept the plan and the council unanimously agreed.

Jane Cramer, representing the city parks commission, presented the council with a letter concerning problems with erosion and deterioration at Battle Rock. She said the commission is asking the city to hold a series of public meetings regarding problems at Battle Rock and requested a report be finalized by October of this year. Councilor Warring made a motion to authorize the parks commission with the assistance of Jason Seivers to explore the problems, set up meetings and report to the council with their findings. The motion carried.

Water and Sewer

Councilor Donaldson gave a talk about water and sewer rates. He said the sewer fund is okay financially while the water fund is starved for money. He explained that the city has plenty of water. He said the city needs to divorce the sewer rates from the water rates so people can water their lawns and gardens without huge bills. Donaldson mentioned that 10% of the water-sewer bills go uncollected. He asked for public input on the water and sewer rate schedules. He talked about the grants the city just received for major improvements to the water system infrastructure. The majority of the money will come from two large grants, one a Community Development Block Grant and another from lottery funds. However, it will include a bond loan of $462,181 which residents will have to pay off over 20 years. Donaldson said it would cost each household an additional $4.40 per month for water and this amount will go up a small amount every year. He described the grant as a "wonderful deal for the city".

Port Orford Water System

The city of Port Orford in Curry County will receive almost $1.6 million in funds from the Oregon Economic Development Department to pay for a major upgrade of its water system, which does not meet federal Safe Drinking Water standards, Director Bill Scott announced Tuesday.

The city qualifies for a federally funded $630,400 grant from the Community Development Block Grant Program and grants and loans from the lottery funded Water/Wastewater Fund.

A 1995 master plan for the system identified $2.3 million in needed improvements in the water treatment and distribution system. The city council is concentrating its efforts on financing improvements needed to meet the regulations and provide safe drinking water to citizens.

The award is in the form of a $630,400 Community Development Block Grant, and a $377,419 grant and $462,181 loan from the department's Water/Wastewater Program.

A prior Community Development Block Grant in the amount of $119,600 paid for the engineering. The city will provide $30,000 cash and will repay the loan over 20 years from increased water rates at an average cost of 11 cents per person per day.

Mayor Gary Doran said, "We appreciate the state and federal funds that will help us make our water safe. Without the help we would be unable to upgrade our system to the level it needs to be."

In the newly funded project, the improvements are focused on producing treated water that is safe to drink now and will still meet volume and safety standards in the year 2017. The proposed improvements include: treatment plant upgrades; replacing the raw water line dredging the Hubbard Creek reservoir to remove silt; a new Garrison Lake intake; and improvements to the Coast Guard Hill pump station, pipelines and treated water reservoir.

The Water/Wastewater Financing Program was established by the 1993 Oregon Legislature to provide lottery funding for water and wastewater projects required to meet quality standards. Technical Assistance grants of up to $10,000 and low-interest loans of up to $20,000 are available through the program, to help cities, counties, and water and sewer districts determine their needs and the costs associated with them. Following preliminary engineering, loans and grants of up to $10 million may be available for qualifying projects.

The Community Development Block Grant Program offers federally funded grants to communities for projects that principally benefit people of low and moderate income.

Planning Commission Votes No on Tower By Evan Kramer

The Port Orford Planning Commission met on Tuesday, June 3, and dealt with U.S. Cellular's application for a conditional use permit for a cell phone tower and utility building on property located at the top of Deady Street.

Planning commission member Russel Ucolano excused himself from the hearing as the property in question belongs to him.

John Blackhurst, a lawyer representing U.S. Cellular, told the commission the company had redesigned the tower. The new design included two 130' poles instead of one, connected by steel brackets. He presented letters of support from the Bandon Police Chief, Reese Electric and the Curry Health District for improved cellular service in Port Orford. Commission member Janelle Haller asked Blackhurst why the company had chosen this site. He mentioned that Ramcell, which is a cellular carrier in Port Orford, installed their equipment illegally on Coast Guard Hill.

Planning commission member Ellen Warring said she would like to see a consistent plan for these kinds of towers rather than a hodgepodge solution. She said the scenic values of the area would be impinged and advised denying the permit. Commission member Janelle Haller said the company had met the criteria in minimizing conflict with scenic values. Commission member Justin Bauman said he saw no great desire by the community to have the tower up on Deady Street. He said the commission had received no letters of support for the tower from anyone living in the area.

Ellen Warring made a motion to deny U.S. Cellular's conditional use application siting the conflict with scenic values. Her motion passed 3-1 with her, Bauman and Don Chamber voting yes and Haller voting no.

The commission next dealt with a conditional use application for a 50-space manufactured home by Camille Mouchawar on part of the property he owns at Agate Beach. Currently, there is an existing RV park on the property. Chris Hood, from Stuntzner Engineering in Coos Bay, represented Mouchawar at the hearing. Hood explained that the 50 spaces would be rented to people and that they would not be owner occupied spaces. Hood said if the 50 spaces were full it would add 240 auto trips a day in and out of the park or a peak hour rate of 1.6 cars per minute.

Several people from the public expressed strong support for permanent beach access by the public. Hood reminded the commission and public they were dealing with private property. He did mention there would be a 50' riparian zone adjacent to the lake.

A motion was made and passed to continue the hearing until the July 1 planning commission meeting. The motion included a proviso that the public hearing portion would be open regarding new issues related to the development.

City Administrator Named

The Port Orford City Council held a special session on Thursday, June 5. The council and public were informed that city manager Dotti Myers was going to have an operation and be absent from work for one or two months.

The special council session was called to name an acting city manager in Myer's absence and appoint a temporary secretary to the council.

A motion was made for city recorder Norma House to assume the responsibilities and duties of the city manager for the duration of Dotti Myer's absence and pay

House at the city manager's rate of pay. House's title will be city administrator. The council voted 5-0 in support of the motion.

Councilor Carl Eskelson responded to a question about manager Myer's situation and said her operation was necessitated by the reoccurrence of an on-the-job injury she suffered on September 16, 1996.

Mayor Gary Doran named Nancy Philips as deputy city recorder (secretary) to the council for 20 hours of work per week. She will be paid $8.00 an hour. Part of her responsibilities will be taking the minutes at the council meetings. A motion to confirm the mayor's appointment passed unanimously.

Councilor Ralph Donaldson explained how the city would actually be saving money during this time. Myer's salary will be paid by worker's compensation insurance. House will receive Myer's salary but Nancy Philips will work fewer hours and be paid less than House thus effecting the savings.

In other reports, Randy Scholten, chief administrator, told board members that relocation and remodeling plans are completed for submission to architects involving the preparation for a new CT scanner. The purchasing department and a supply storage area was relocated to the hospital's "blue house" annex last week to make way for expanding the lab and radiology departments.

Revenue totaled about $314,000 in April, down from $388,000 in March. Write-offs were about 23 percent of revenues, or about $69,000 in April, Scholten reported.

April bank deposits totaled nearly $365,000, up from $313,000 in March.

Cash outflow was approximately $394,000 in April compared to $327,000 the previous month.

The hospital's taxing district extends from Pistol River north to north of Port Orford. The balance in the tax account on April 30 was $258,000.

Public Meeting

This meeting was to explain and answer questions about the library budget. The Board would like to go beyond that purpose and remind everyone what a bargain our library is.

We have the Librarian, Bonnie Wagner, whom for more than 20 years has put patron needs first. She, Shirley Nelson, Virginia Forgatsch and the extra workers have professional training, dedication and low pay. Together with them there are our wonderful volunteers who work with skill, grace and energy with no pay at all.

We have the Friends of the Library and other dedicated people, past and present, who serve without pay on Library Board, Budget Committee, Used Book Sales and Bazaars. They all help to provide the excellent library we enjoy.

We now have a Public Library Foundation and would like to thank Attorney Howard Lichtig for pro bono work getting it started. We hope that it will attract donations and bequests for a future building with the space we need, and provide donors with a tax deduction, as well.

Generous gifts and grants have been received with thanks. We have received computers, the Internet, cookies, carpentry, memorial books, all the valuable things donated that the Friends have sold

According to an unnamed source an insurance company recommends seat belts be installed on all office chairs in a large sized hamlet in Curry County so that employees don't fall off and hurt themselves.

It must be really aggravating when an employee reopens their claim a year later.

"Your Hometown Hardware Store"

Letter to the Editor,

During the Depression in 1934 Mayor Gabel conceived the idea to build a U.S. Coast Guard facility on Coast Guard Hill. A major factor Gabel realized and used to promote his idea was the fact C.G. Hill has a water supply.

Gabel had the acumen to see a natural spring in a brushy draw was an adequate source to supply the entire facility with excellent pure water. Annual tests for purity confirmed the water was of such quality no chlorine was ever used.

When the base was de-commissioned the little engine and pump from this simple, tiny, low cost water works was removed. By walking down about 200 steps of the 518 steps anyone can still see the location. The mini-pump house is still on its foundation, the nothing fancy but adequate concrete reservoir is still intact and the same spring is still putting out the same volume of pure water running downhill into the ocean. Where does this constant year-round supply of pure drinking water come from?

Silver Butte Creek and rain deliver the primary supply into Garrison Lake. The weight of the water in the lake provides the hydrostatic pressure to force water through the porous sand and gravel on the north side of Coast Guard Hill.

The water, under pressure, meets head-on with an impermeable bluff of granite. The hydrostatic pressure forces the now purified water to the surface where it can be seen in several places emerging as natural artesian wells.

A very low cost artesian-gravity water system, that needs no chlorine, may not sound as fun as a 1.5 million dollar spending spree water system, but perhaps a generation down the road may get fed up with their insane burden of debt and use some common sense.

Child Care Workshops

Coming up in a few weeks is the fourth in a series of training workshops for child care providers of children from infancy to the age of five. This class is available free of charge, to any and all, regardless of previous class attendance, and has something for everyone (including door prizes for a few lucky winners). Taking care of children can at times be a staggering task, and understanding the factors that affect their development can be even harder. This course has been designed to provide strategies to these challenges, as well as to provide insight and encouragement to childcare providers. It will be held at the Gold Beach SWOCC center Friday, June 20th from 6:30 to 9:30, and will continue on Saturday morning, from 9am to 5pm. We're moving right along toward our goal of raising enough money to build a new library. Thank you generous people for donating over $3,500 to our construction fund. I especially thank the members of the Library Board of Directors who collectively have given $1,400—talk about a group of supportive people!

The news from the Oregon State Library is that they received 14 grant requests totaling over a million dollars. Since they have only $385,000 in federal construction funds to award, the competition is fierce. We asked for $125,000 and we will know yes or no on June 25. Don't forget there will be a community meeting Thursday at 6:00 p.m. to discuss the new library. We value your ideas so please attend.

Our Summer Reading Program is going to be fantastic. Thanks to a grant from Curry County Commission on Children and Families we were able to hire Anne Cox and Buzzy Nielsen as Program Directors and they invite you to "Celebrate Reading With Food for Thought." It begins July 1 at 2:00 with the Mad Hatter's Tea Party, a wonderful selection of tea and muffins with some great Wonderland fun. Remember to bring a hat! The entire schedule will be available next week.

YES

The YES (Youth Empowered By Seniors) Project held their third annual Pizza party at Katz Juice and Java Restaurant in Port Orford on May 21. All six mentors, Jane and Frank Cramer, Edward and Nancy Dowdy, Thelma Lagace, and Lee Kincade, their students and families, had a good time. Lorelei Kunz coordinator for the YES project thanked the families of the students and the mentors who gave so much of their time to the children of their community.

Lorelei talked of the new project SMART (Start Making A Reader Today). The program will be placing mentors with students that are having a difficult time with reading. There are many ways to teach reading. The mentors will be trained on how to teach someone to read. The program will continue with summer fun including a trip to the petting zoo (Game Park) and a trip to Cape Blanco light-house. After the tour the fun will end with a brown bag lunch.

The YES/SMART project will need new mentors for the coming school year. Please call or write to the RSVP office. Thanks again from the YES/RSVP Projects.

Letter to the Editor,

The Port Orford City Council has had several special meetings and most are called for Thursday evenings. Why?

Does it accomplish the following:

Allows the council to give the legal notice of 24 hours for meeting, on Wednesday afternoons so that local news media, because of when they go to press, can not inform the public of the meeting. Therefore, the only citizens Port Orford who are aware of the meeting are those the council members told, or who have read the notices in the Post Office or at City Hall. This tends to reduce the attendance at the meetings, and also restrict objections and questions, allowing items to pass with little complaint.

One of our city council members teaches citizens of Port Orford who want to obtain their G.E.D. certificate on Thursday evenings, thereby restricting his council presence.

I hope that your readers will check with the council members as to why the items that were on the agenda at the special meeting on June 5, 1997, could not wait until the regular meeting on Monday, June 9, 1997, two working days.

Effective Parenting Workshop

Have you had time to sit down and plan out your family vacations for this summer? For most of us the answer is "No way!". Summer has arrived, and the time for making plans is most definitely here. If you are interested in: exploring some new ideas of how to spend your vacation this year, would like to find ways of preventing the kids from falling into the "I'm bored" routine, or just want to talk with other parents about their experiences, come to one of the Effective Parenting workshops near you. Throughout the summer, in both Port Orford and Gold Beach there will be three separate evening workshops dedicated to making your summer one to remember. In Port Orford, the workshops are scheduled for three Tuesday evenings, including June 24, and August 27, from 6:30 -9:30pm. They will be held at the Port Orford City Hall, and the cost is $18 per person. (Spouses are welcome at no additional cost.) Meeting times in Gold Beach are scheduled to be June 23rd, July 28, and August 26, at the Gold Beach SWOCC center, also from 6:30-9:30pm.

If you have further questions, or wish to register, please call the Gold Beach Southwestern office at 247-2741.

Les Mis Tickets Available

Have you been wishing you hadn't missing seeing Les Mis when it was in Portland or Seattle? We have good news for you! The Broadway company is taking the show on the road, and the Curry Program has tickets for the September 13 matinee in Eugene for the first twenty students who sign up for Les Miserables Lecture and Performance. A donation by the Student Activities Club will lower the cost of tickets for Curry students to around thirty dollars apiece. During an organizational meeting in September, we will discuss travel plans as well as preview the performance. After the performance, there will be a follow-up meeting to share our collective and individual insights. Don't miss this chance to see a performance you'll never forget! Call your local Southwestern office for further details at 469-5017 or 247-2741.

Do you have old photos of family members? A color copy would really brighten up the day of a budding genealogist and would help preserve your family's history! Copies can be made for as little as $1.49 at The Downtown Fun Zone in Port Orford.

Diversifiable Risk

To reduce diversifiable risk, Diversify! In the stock market that means being invested in more than one company, more than one sector (technology, health care, retail, manufacturing), more than one geographic area, even more than one country. Diversification of investments is a good idea in general. To be diversified only in the stock market is not a good idea. Bonds, real estate and the liquidity of the money market can all contribute to a more complete diversification.

Council Searches for New Police Chief

Mayor Doran appointed him interim judge until the contract is completed and signed. The council unanimously approved the mayor's appointment.

The council returned to the subject of Battle Rock. Frank Cramer spoke to the council about the damage caused by members of the Charleston Fire Department when they used Battle Rock for rappelling practice. A motion was made and passed for city attorney Randall Tosch to write an ordinance restricting rappelling at Battle Rock including fines for this behavior. Tosch claimed he could write the ordinance in 5 minutes.

Hiring a New Police Chief

The first item of new business the council considered was outlining the procedures and qualifications for a police chief. The city has been without a police officer since Lt. Lew Ball resigned on May 14. Councilor Jim Campbell, who is the police and fire council liaison, said the city has received 15 applications for the police chief job and that the cut-off date for applications is June 15. He asked the council members to go through the applications after they are all in and each select the 5 best. Campbell recommended that a panel of 4 local former police officers and one council member meet in executive session and interview the final five candidates and recommend one to the full council for a vote. The council voted unanimously to conduct the hiring process in this manner.

The council then worked out a set of qualifications for the panel to use in interviewing the candidates and ranked them in order of significance. The number one qualification is that the person be a certified police officer. If the person hired was from out of state and there are a number of out of state applications they would have to become certified in Oregon before assuming their duties. Number 2 was they be a working chief which includes traffic detail. The third qualification was the person be personable and community oriented. Number 4 was community policing. Number 5 was coordinating the police reserves while 6 was ability as a grant administrator and 7 was budgeting abilities.

The chain of command was established for the police chief. The police chief will report to the city council.

The council then took up the issue of the city's worker's compensation policy. The city had recently been sent a letter from SAIF, their current worker's compensation carrier, notifying them their policy was being not being renewed as of July 1, 1997. City administrator Norma House presented the council with a bid from City County Insurance Services for the city's worker's compensation policy. Their quote was for $11,075.16 which House said was $4,000 less than what SAIF was charging. Councilor Donaldson made a motion to accept the C.C.I.S. bid and the council agreed unanimously.

The council approved liquor license renewals for Ricardo's, Spaghetti West and Pitches Tavern by a 5-1 vote.
