City Council Tops the Chart By Evan Kramer

The Port Orford City Council met on Monday in a sweltering council chamber. Public works director Jerry McNurlin led off with a report about his department. He noted there had been two water line breaks, one at 20th and Jackson and the other at 18th and Jackson. He said the roof on the restroom at Buffington Park has been temporarily repaired and that the building would be painted next. Councillor Robert Warring asked about the dredging of the Hubbard Creek Reservoir. Ralph Donaldson pointed out the city has to establish a new water utility rate structure first before dredging begins.

Fire Chief George Gehrke told the council his department had eight calls the previous month including one boat fire, three brush fires and four auto accidents.

Police Chief Russ Hunt caught the council up on his activities during the first four weeks on the job. He said he has been getting acquainted with other law enforcement agencies. He has cleaned up the office, written a job description for the police clerk and established a police reserve policy with "considerably higher standards". He said he had let one of the reserve officers go. He is working on a new policies and procedures manual, reviewing and updating the files, has had the keys to the police department changed and has developed a new written warning citation. He has handled eleven criminal cases including eight misdemeanors and three felonies and has written eleven traffic citations. He has hired a new reserve officer from Philomath who has been on duty this week. Robert Warring expressed concern about slowing traffic down through town. He said if you can slow down the commercial vehicles it has a slowing effect on the other vehicles.

The City has received approval for a second police officer under the Federal COPS grant effective July 1. City administrator Jim Poland was informed by Kim Gornyak (COPS program) that the City will receive $73,000 for the additional officer. Poland urged the council to get the hiring process started immediately even though the money is not in the bank. Ralph Donaldson made a motion authorizing Police Chief Russ Hunt to advertise for the second officer with the provision that the $73,000 is in the bank before the person begins working. The motion passed unanimously.

City Planning Director Butch Parker gave the council a report. He said a hearing that had been scheduled for tonight regarding an appeal of a planning commission decision of a cell telephone tower on Deady Street by US Cellular had been postponed until the council meeting on September 8. He reviewed the planning commission action on the Marsh property at 250 E. 19th Street. The Commission had approved a qualified rezone of the property from Residential 1 to Residential 2 for a seven-bed nursing care facility. Robert Warring made a motion to approve the commission's decision and it passed without opposition.

Community Response Team co-chairs, Ed and Nancy Dowdy, spoke to the council. They told them they had completed a year with the CRT as co-chairs. They want to see the organization structure simplified and changed to a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer structure. This will be discussed at the Thursday, August 14 7:00pm CRT meeting at the Senior Center. The Dowdys talked about a grant from the Northwest Economic Assistance Initiative for the façade of the visitor center at Battle Rock Park. The deadline for applying for the grant is August 15. This money would be spent to bring the appearance of the visitor center into conformity with the look of the soon-to-be-built wayfinder site at Battle Rock Park. The rocks used in the façade would be the same type as used in the wall. Ralph Donaldson made a motion to empower the CRT to pursue this grant to bring the visitor center into conformity with the wayfinder site. It passed 4-0.

City Parks and Recreation Planner Jason Seivers spoke to the council about the "Central Wetlands Greenway Project" which he described as a greenway with a pathway. He talked about the need for a technical assistance person to work with the city developing the greenway paid for by a grant. The Port Orford Watershed council will be the lead local group in developing it. Robert Warring made a motion to empower Jason to apply for the grant that passed unanimously.

The council heard citizen concerns from resident Teresa Kolibaba. She spoke about the rollerbladers, skateboarders and bicyclists using the city sidewalks. She said they are a menace to people walking on the sidewalks and that her father had almost been run over by a skateboarder. Chief Hunt told the council he had some skateboard ramps packed up and stored with the public works department. He wants to meet with the skateboarders. Mayor Gary Doran volunteered to go with Hunt when he meets with the skateboarders and look at possible ordinances.

The council was presented with a city flow chart, which they dated August 11, 1997. The city council tops the chart with the department heads working under them. It clearly establishes that the council is running the city now. The council passed a motion accepting the flow chart and added a proviso that city treasurer Norma House will supervise the new city recorder during that person's term of probation.

Ralph Donaldson made a motion authorizing department heads requesting personnel assistance from either Green Thumb or South Coast Business Employment to interview the job applicants and after making sure they have satisfactorily passed the screening process give that person a firm hire offer. The council will be informed of the department head's actions. The motion passed 3-1. Robert Warring voted no and told the council they do the hiring.

Carl Eskelson was volunteered to be one of the signers on the bank signature card. The council passed a motion making it official.

Mayor Doran appointed Bonnie Allen to the city parks commission. The council passed a motion approving the mayor's appointment.

Ralph Donaldson spoke about the urgency of holding public meeting regarding water utility rates. He urged the council to hold a workshop meeting as soon as possible. The meeting had been scheduled for August 21 at 6:00pm in the council chambers. Please call city hall at 332-3681 for further information about the water utility rate workshop. Donaldson said the public should attend these meetings. He also made a point of saying that Tom Hamilton's study of proposed water rates is available at the Downtown Fun Zone. It is 5 pages long and costs fifty cents to copy.

Arts and Seafood Festival By Evan Kramer

The recently concluded Port Orford Arts and Seafood Festival was a success in my book.

The albacore tuna barbecue at the dock on Sunday was a smash success. The Port Orford Women's Fishery Network, Port Orford Fishermen's Association and Arts Council barbecued 150 pounds of tuna and by 2:30pm it was sold out. That came out to about 300 meals served. People relaxed and ate while listening to Port Orford's own Antique Dog play a collection of blues and original rock'n'roll. One of the biggest hits down at the boneyard at the dock was the huge inflatable crab known as "One Cool Crab".

One Cool Crab

The Oregon Dungeness Crab Commission provided the cool crab, which was reminiscent of something out of a science fiction movie. The crab travels the world promoting the Oregon crab industry and recently returned from a trip to China. People lined up to get their picture taken with the crab.

Later that evening the Festival concluded with the presentation of "The Boy Who Talked to Whales" at the Star Theater. Over one hundred appreciative people turned out to watch several Port Orford and Langlois youth display their acting abilities. Carol Malley directed the play. The assistant to the director was Adam Epstein. The nine young actors in the cast held their own and then some on stage. Several of them displayed budding talent in their acting ability. The natural ease with which they played their characters on stage was impressive. Of course they worked for several weeks rehearsing the play. Six "under ten year olds" played the waves and dolphins and had one line in the play. As I sat watching the play I reflected on how difficult it would have been for me to get up in front of an audience at that age and act in a play, not to mention remembering all those lines. Bravo to these fine young people for the work they presented to the community on Sunday night.

Another interesting event for me at this year's festival and a different type of one was the exhibit at artist Curtis Hemp's home. Hemp paints with oils and is what they refer to as an impressionist. His work is well worth a look plus he's an interesting guy.

The junk art exhibit contest and castaway art show at the Community Building attracted a steady stream of people both days. Some of the junk art sculptures were well thought out and humorous. Special kudos to C.A. Smith's Dale and Paula Dearing and their junk art house covered in Tums and Bayer aspirin and

P.O.C.C.C.

Port Orford Community Children's Center has recently received grant money from the Curry County Commission for children and Families. Part of these grant dollars are to provide respite services. P.O.C.C.C. is now accepting applications for respite services. Applicants must meet criteria. These may include: children at risk because of abuse or neglect, children who might otherwise be left alone, children needing care while parents attend parenting classes or school, children of families experiencing drug & alcohol problems, children needing care while parents attend counseling, children of parents seeking employment or newly employed, children of families experiencing chronic health problems, children of foster parents, or children needing care while parents attend medical or business appointments. Financial need is not the main criteria. All applications must be received by 6pm on August 18, 1997. Applications may be submitted by mailing to P.O. C.C.C. which is located in room #11 at Driftwood Elementary School. Applications are available at the North Curry Annex, Common Good, or P.O. C.C.C. in Port Orford. They may also be picked up at the Public Health Dept., Services to Children and Families office, or Adult and Family Services office in Gold Beach.

Central Wetlands Greenway By David Wilken

The proposed Central Wetlands Greenway, envisioned in the city's Parks & Recreation Master Plan, took another step towards reality with Monday's City Council approval of applying for expert assistance in the next part of the planning process. The Watershed Council, named as "lead agency" for the project in the Master Plan, will apply to the U.S. Parks Service for a landscape architect to be assigned to the "project team." Already committed to the team are the Watershed Council, City Parks & Recreation, Public Works, the School District, the CRT, and the Arts Council. Expressions of support have already come from the South Coast Coordinating Watershed Council, OSU Extension, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Club, Master Gardeners, and numerous individuals. The application deadline is this Friday.

The Central Wetlands Greenway will begin behind Driftwood elementary school and lead north, then west (crossing Hwy. 101 just north of Sentry Market) through Buffington Park, ending at Garrison Lake at the city dock/water intake site. The entire new park will be on public property, that is, right-of-way for streets which, due to the wetlands, were never built.

The Parks Service architect will help design a "wetlands walkway" to make the entire Greenway accessible to local residents and visitors, as well as assist in preparing a budget and seeking funding from appropriate sources. The walkway, as now proposed, will likely be a combination of pathway and boardwalk. There will be interpretive signs to inform those using the system about the importance of wetlands in water quality, especially, and the many other benefits such wetlands bring to a community. Port Orford is nearly unique in its undisturbed urban wetlands, and the Greenway development could serve as a model for other communities.

In addition to the "usual" benefits that result from such a project, such as tourism potential and local good feelings, the wetlands walkway will also serve as an outdoor "learning lab" for our own students and those from other communities, possibly even college students and faculty, and researchers in various fields.

I will serve as "contact person" for this grant application. Jason Seivers, our parks planner, deserves most of the credit for most of the work to date, as well as the idea itself. In the short time he's been here he's made quite an impact, helped create the master plan, itself, and found some important outside resources for community betterment. When he moves on to other things this fall, he will be missed.

Gold Beach Summer Theater

"Last of the Red Hot Lovers" continues to perform to full houses with two week-ends remaining. The Thursday evening performance August 14 is now sold out. Tickets are still available for the remaining shows but are going fast. Barney Cashman (being played by Michael Hall) portrays a gentle, sober soul with a true blue wife of 23 years and absolutely no experience in adultery. When he finds

Elaine Navizio (Sylvia Cramond) a flaunting sexpot; Bobby Michael (Carrie Crook) a kooky actress and Jeanette Fisher (Gini Christoson) his wife's best friend too much to handle Barney is doomed to fail.

This adult comedy is delightfully hilarious and witty as well as filled with wisdom about human nature. It is being directed by Leanne McCurley and the set construction is being done by Larry Hering with Michael Schatz handling props and stage manager.

Tickets are still available for Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday through August 23 with the final performance on Saturday August 23 at 8:00pm.

Tickets can be purchased at the Gold Beach Summer Theater located at the Masonic Temple in Gold Beach or call 247-2721 for reservations. Ticket prices are $8 for adults and students are $4.

Local Landmark Jane Cramer

Here's a little quiz. What local landmark appears on the City of Port Orford letterhead? What local landmark do tourists and South Coast residents associate with Port Orford? What local landmark do we take out of town guests to see? What local landmark is in danger because it is loved too well?

If you answered Battle Rock to all of the questions asked above, you are correct. If you wonder why the Rock is in danger, look at an old picture of Battle Rock and notice the erosion which has occurred over the years. Or talk to some long time residents and ask them about changes due to erosion.

People climb Battle Rock every day during tourist season and on many off season days as well. Watch sometime as a car, an RV or a school bus pulls up. The doors fly open and kids head for Battle Rock, often with an eager adult right behind them. However, each person times two means that many feet wearing away the soil. Every time a person uses a bush or a tree root to pull himself up the steep part, that bush or root gets loosened a little more, eventually coming completely out of the ground and causing more erosion.

What can be done? Can we protect our well-loved landmark? What is the best way to deal with the problem and still preserve the scenic beauty of the rock? Battle Rock needs help in the form of ideas on how to protect it.

The Port Orford Parks Commission will host a public meeting to discuss solutions to the steady deterioration of the Rock. Feedback gathered at the public meeting will help the Parks Commission make a recommendation to the City Council about how to protect and restore the Rock. The meeting will be on Monday, August 18, 7:00 P.M. in the Council Chambers at City Hall. Please come and share in the discussion.

Look, Up in the Sky!

Port Orford residents and visitors were treated to two infrequently seen sights in the skies over the area. Last week on Thursday the Goodyear blimp blew in above town on a windy day. At times it seemed the blimp was without direction. On Tuesday another blimp floated above Port Orford headed south. This one bore the message "Get Met, It Pays", which I assume is an advertising slogan for Metropolitan Life Insurance Company. People were seen all over town with their heads tilted upward pointing at the sky. "Look, up in the sky! It's a bird, it's a plane, no it's the Goodyear blimp! This reminds a person how little aviation activity we see in the sky above us. Thanks for the show.

Letter to the Editor,

I'm June, I was your MC Friday August 18th at the Lightin Bug Community Center entertainment. I told corny jokes you laughed, I introduced the bands made mistakes you laughed, I looked ridiculous you laughed. I sang you laughed, you folks made me laugh. You were all just great.

A year and a half ago I came to Port Orford a very sad person. I had just lost someone dear to me, my security blanket (my Husband). But the people in Port Orford welcomed me with open arms, and made me feel good all over again. This is without a doubt the nicest town in the U.S. The people in Port Orford deserve this thank you from me. I'm nobody important, but in my heart you are. And a thanks for helping Lightin Bugs help get their Christmas lights.

Heritage Society Speaker

Join Lt. Dutton of the US Coast Guard for an entertaining and informative look at the Coast Guard in action along the Oregon Coast. Lt. Dutton will show slides and videos of the brave men and women of the Coast Guard as they go about their duties protecting the Pacific coast of the United States.

Lt. Dutton's presentation will take place at 7:00pm on Friday, August 15, at the Port Orford Heads State Park, site of the old Port Orford Lifesaving Station.

The presentation is sponsored by the Point Orford Heritage Society, which is dedicated to preserving and interpreting the old Lifesaving Station facility. Everyone is invited to attend this free talk. For more information call Viola Cuatt at 332-2352.

Black Lock Point Hike

There will be a Kalmiopsis Audubon Hike Saturday August 16, 1997. Join Jane and Frank Cramer for a Black Lock Point hike. This hike does not include the beach. Easy hike, but some distance walking involved. Meet at the Cape Blanco Airport parking lot at 1:30pm. Take Airport Rd. across from Pacific High School, 7 miles north of Port Orford. Parking lot is at the end of the road. Bring water and snacks. Happens rain or shine! For further information call the Cramers at (541) 332-2113.

Letter to the Editor,

Thanks to the person who ran me off 18th (on my bicycle) August 8th. I am not hurt or anything (except a skinned knee), but it would have been nice if you stopped and asked if I was OK!! I would have done the same if I had just ran someone off the road!

Oh yeah, I forgot, I was on the correct side of the road. 18th is a little hard to navigate with a bike at a dead stop. I have your license number.

Tim McCoy

Letter to the Editor,

I would like to thank the many people who sent cards, gifts and the very beautiful flowers to me while in the hospital and during my recovery.

A very special thank you to Ms. Tamara N. Thomas and my mom for being by my side throughout my hospital stay. Thank you to all for their thoughts, prayers and support.

Peace Walk to D.C

A group of four men walked through Port Orford early Tuesday evening headed south to Washington D.C. One of the group's members stopped in at Sister's for a cookie and then headed over to talk with me. The group is headed south along Highway 101 to Los Angeles and then east to Washington D.C. on a self described peace walk. They plan on taking 420 days to walk to the nation's capitol. The group began on July 12 of this year at the Ochoco National Forest in Oregon.

The purpose of the walk is a march against wars. Spokesman for the group, Sid Biscuit, said the group was against government control and mentioned a desire to shut the government down. Biscuit who calls himself an ex punk rocker said the group averages 10 miles a day and that the composition of peace marchers participating in the walk fluctuates from three or four to as high as nineteen.

Letter to the editor,

Last year the Common Good, with the help of the people of Port Orford and Langlois, provided ninety-seven pairs of new shoes and more than two hundred pairs of socks to District 2CJ students at the start of the new school year. That time of year will soon be upon us again and the need is the same—or even greater—than last year. Please help us to meet that need again this year. For an average price of about $20 we can buy good, serviceable shoes for every needy kid. For your convenience and to help you remember, shoe boxes labeled “Shoes for Kids” are located at several businesses in Port Orford including Buck’s Sentry, Downtown Fun Zone, Grumpy’s, Klamath First Federal and the Wheelhouse Restaurant.

Contributions, in any amount, may be placed in these boxes, and may be in cash or by check. Checks should be made out to the Common Good (Shoes for Kids).

Thank you for your help.

For the Common Good

Senior News By Mary Yoder

August 7 was a Rotary luncheon – We had a volunteer who wasn't a senior – or I mean over 55 – Mary Evans wasn't that great? Others were Betty Harper, Bessie Laursen, Gayle Lee, June Dennison as usual doing her part – setting up the dining room – Judy Peacock Klein and E. David Klein dishes and etc.

Oh yes August 5 I was at the center – here were June Dennison and Bessie Laursen – would you believe they were making plum syrup – or jelly – for the breakfast – ain't they special?

August 9 was the luncheon – volunteers working were Lorraine Hass, Greta Carver, Norma Ellis and me I helped a little. June Dennison set up the tables – lots of work – Bill Butt dishes – Peggie Stahl coffee – Clare Stahl – money – real nice turn out – real special food.

August 10 breakfast – Now some of these volunteers are working real early cause the breakfast starts at 8:00 – June Dennison, Lee Hyle, Betty Harper, Marg Kyle, Beth Newkirk, Greta Carver, Art Klima, Gale Lee, Norma Ellis, Pauline Lenox – dishes Bill Butt. Did I get everyone? I hope so. Rummage sale – Bobbetta Kron, Henry Kron and what's his name – they are getting things ready by 7:30. Imagine Sunday morning that early – what would the center do without these wonderful volunteers?

August 12 was board meeting – more about it next week – now Saturday August 16 is BBQ at 12:30. I haven't heard who is doing the BBQing – best come and find out yourself. Jack and Ruth Champayne will do the music. August 19 at 9:30 till 12:00 hearing aid and blood pressure – also August 18 is pinochle at 7:00 – guess that's it.

Guest you are welcome here

Be at your ease, we're happy to share with you such as we've got. The leaks in the roof and the soup in the pot. You don't have to thank us or laugh at our jokes. Sit down and come often. You're one of the folks.
