Fire Season is Over!

Getting Better All the Time By Evan Kramer

The Port Orford City Council meeting was bookended by two positive agenda items on Monday night.

The meeting began with a public hearing regarding the Port Orford Library grant. Port Orford Public Librarian Tobe Porter explained briefly to the council the grant was a $500,000 community block grant the city was applying for on behalf of the library. There was no comment from either the public or the council but Porter was given a hearty round of applause when she left the speaker's chair. The grant application is being submitted to the Oregon Economic & Community Development Department and if successful will make construction of our new library possible next year.

The council had been sent a letter from Deady Street property owners Ted and Elaine Owen regarding a debris pile on a property adjacent to theirs as well as possible erosion problems. Elaine Owen told the council she was there to hear their response to their letter. Don Poirer, the engineer for the adjoining property, which is owned by Sandra Anderson, spoke next and passed around drawings of a driveway project, which will provide access to the property. He said they wanted to start working tomorrow on the driveway to the Anderson property and that Joe Marsh had been hired to do the clearing, brushing and build the road. The driveway is an extension of one that leads to the Owen property and is located on an undeveloped city street. Poirer said the driveway would be done within a week and a half. He said the debris pile would be removed once the road is complete. Poirer said Anderson would be responsible for installing the utilities which will not cost the city any money. Public works administrator Dave Pace will inspect the sewer and water lines once they are installed.

Port Orford Arts Council treasurer John Lincoln questioned the council about the Arts Council event this Sunday at the Community Building. Mayor Auburn had denied the Arts Council's request for a temporary liquor sales permit for the Mary McCaslin concert this Sunday. Mayor Auburn said he denied the permit because there would be children present. Lincoln explained to Auburn the beer sales would be held in a cordoned off area. Councilor Milton Finch explained that under Oregon Liquor Control Commission rules it was legal to have a cordoned off area for sales of alcoholic beverages. No liquor can go out of the area and no one under 21 can go in. The council agreed to the temporary liquor sales permit once it was made clear they would be held in a cordoned off area.

Mayor Auburn said the city was negotiating with Coos-Curry Electric about them installing the two Tsunami warning sirens. The city is due several street lights under their contract with Coos-Curry and would trade some of those for installation of the Tsunami sirens. Mayor Auburn said in addition Coos-Curry would be retrofitting all the city street lights to Dark Sky standards.

The council will hold a Water Master Plan meeting on Monday, October 24, 7:00pm, in the council chambers. A copy of the Water Master Plan is available at the Port Orford Library for people to read.

Mayor Auburn said there had been several good applications for the Department of Land Conservation and Development grant for a facilitator for the Port and surrounding area study. The facilitator will be chosen on Friday.

Some late bills have come in from SHN Consulting Engineers regarding the sewer upgrade project. Dave Pace said he wanted to discuss several problems with the project with SHN engineer Steve Donovan.

Councilor Steve Abbott said the watershed committee was looking for citizens to serve on the Garrison Lake restoration committee. Abbott mentioned the lake as a secondary source of water for Port Orford.

Mayor Auburn said the city is currently advertising for a City Administrator. The deadline for applications for the job is the end of November and they could have a candidate selected by the first of the year.

The council discussed the job description for the police chief. They made a few minor changes in the four page document including the chief would work "with day-to-day supervision as designated by the council." It had read day-to-day supervision would be done by the Chairman of the Public Safety Subcommittee. Councilor Jim Campbell made a motion to accept the job description as amended and it passed 6-0.

Councilor Campbell made a motion to accept Borrower's Resolution #2006-09 and it passed by a unanimous vote. This resolution authorizes the city to borrow money from Sterling Savings Bank of Washington State to purchase the Vactor truck for the public works department.

The council then cleared the council chambers except for the press and went into executive session under Oregon Revised Statues 192.660 2(i) – Job Evaluation.

They came back into regular session after finishing the executive session. It was noted the police chief had been given a very good evaluation. Councilor Campbell made a motion to declare that Police Chief Mark Creighton's six month trial period over, to raise his salary to Step 4

(it had been at Step 1), and that he would be paid the equivalent of PERS (Public Employee Retirement System) directly rather than have it put into PERS. The motion passed by a 6-0 vote and the meeting came to an end.

Health District Meeting

The Curry Health District Board will hear the annual presentation from district auditors when they meet in regular session Wednesday, Oct. 26. While usually held in Gold Beach, the forthcoming board meeting will begin at 2:30pm., in the Port Orford Senior Center.

The health district operates Curry Family Medical, home to Shindler's automated pharmacy, in Port Orford, as well as Curry General Hospital and Shore Pines Assisted Care Community in Gold Beach. The meeting is open to the public. For more information, browse the district's website at www.curryhealthnetwork.com or phone Doreen Fix, (541) 247-3160.

Lovers – Bring your Sweeties!

No Place Like Home By Valerie & Evan Kramer

It had been far too long since our last vacation and we were both more than ready for one so on Friday morning, Sept. 30, 2005, we (Evan and I and Honey Bear) left the house about 8am and started off. We didn't get far. Our first stop was Port Orford's Circle K where we loaded up with drinks and muffins. Finally we left Port Orford behind and headed south on Hwy 101. We stopped at the visitors' center just north of Brookings an hour later to walk the dog. The staff at the center were very friendly. Normally we would have stopped at McDonalds for breakfast but this time we didn't. Evan long-time McDonalds fan, Valerie, is finally getting tired of poor service and over-priced drinks. Besides, we had our muffins to eat so with no further stops, we finally arrived at the California border.

California is, I believe, unique in the states in that all major roads into the state are guarded by agricultural inspection stations in an attempt to keep out foreign insects or other pests that might wreak havoc with California's agriculture business. Much of California's fertile land is guarded by mountains and deserts, so hitch-hiking bugs could become a major problem and expense. These defenses used to operate 24/7 but due to budget cuts, the stations seem to be rarely open these days and it only takes one vehicle to bring in the wrong kind of visitors. I have to wonder why they bother to man them at all if they aren't going to do the job properly.

In Crescent City we stopped again at their Dollar Store where Valerie was excited to find several paperback Nancy Drew and Hardy Boys books for $1 each. We also stopped at their visitor center. By now you may be getting the impression that we were making a lot of stops. You are right. Our intention was to take the trip slow and easy. Bringing Honey Bear, we hoped, would force us to stop more often and enjoy the trip. The strategy seemed to work. We made another stop for Honey Bear at a rest stop near Trinidad and got to Eureka about lunch time.

I was surprised this week to learn that the population of Eureka is only about 25,000. It seems much larger. By comparison, Eugene, OR is more than five times as large! Eureka provided us with our first California traffic jam as we looked for a place to eat on Highway 101 south. We pulled into the parking lot of the China Buffet but there were no spots. They wanted our business though and the owner came out, followed us around the block, and flagged us into a recently-vacated spot at the curb. I'm impressed! The food was good and the price quite reasonable and with somewhat over-full bellies, we headed off into the heart of Eureka.

While Valerie looked in the Booklegger, a used book store in downtown, Evan went across the street to a bake shop and bought a hallach (a Jewish type of bread-thiny.)

American Legion Hall

Have you taken a good look at the American Legion Hall lately? The old building has taken on a new look thanks to members of the Port Orford Rotary Club who made the renovation of the building their Centennial Project.

The interior of the building will soon have new walls, flooring, lighting and modernized restrooms. The kitchen has already been updated and stocked with new dishes and cutlery – enough to serve 120 people. The building is available for special events and can be rented for private groups celebrating anniversaries or family gatherings. For further information, contact Sonja Mason at 332-8630.

New Patient Info System

The Curry General Hospital board of directors, Wednesday, Sept. 28, approved the acquisition of a new $916,372 digital information system expected to vastly improve hospital functions and streamline patient care over the next decade. The board based its approval on recommendations from the hospital management council, as well as clinical and business managers who have been researching health information systems for more than two years, according to Gary Short, chief financial officer.

“We’re currently doing all the things the new system will do, but we’re doing them manually,” he added. “The digital system will put Curry General on par with systems found at all the larger health centers, such as Asante or Providence.”

Pam Tracy, R.N., said the system will eliminate the long hours that nurses spend doing paperwork by hand. “Going digital will allow us to spend more time at a patient’s bedside. Patient histories and medication lists will all be on the computer as an electronic medical record.”

The new system also will allow nurses to quickly communicate patient needs to other departments – such as dietary, lab or radiology,” Tracy said. “Now we have to make separate calls to each of those departments.”

Rebecca Moore, the hospital’s business manager, has acted as project manager, overseeing comparison studies and system analysis since 2003. She and other members of an in-house health systems information committee observed demonstrations by four corporations and personally inspected systems at several Midwest hospitals last year. Eventually, they recommended CPSI, the Alabama-based firm that was finally chosen to design and build the system. Specializing in rural hospitals, CPSI boasts more than 530 clients, including Columbia Memorial Hospital in Astoria, which implemented a similar information system in August, Moore added.

Implementation is expected to begin at Curry General Hospital in February 2006, with extensive training planned before and after that date, Moore said.

When asked if the acquisition will include systems in Port Orford, a hospital spokesperson replied, “It will include Port Orford, Brookings, the works. We’re all connected. Say that a patient comes into Curry Family Medical over a year and then one day needs to drive to the Curry General ER in Gold Beach on a weekend. The ER staff will be able to instantly access his electronic medical record, see what meds he’s taking, what previous diagnoses he’s had, everything that could help save his life. We do that now, it just takes a bit longer because we need to find his paper chart in a big filing cabinet rather than just accessing it by computer.”

'Mushroom Madness' Walk

Curry General Hospital's Sole Pursuits presents "Mushroom Madness," a day of free guided hiking, wild mushrooming and taste-testing, when Mary and Steven Taylor lead hikers along Bald Mountain Creek, northeast of Port Orford, Saturday, Oct. 29.

Participants can carpool or drive themselves to meet the Taylors at 10 a.m., on the east side of Highway 101 at Elk River Road. The group will follow them up Elk River to a small campground about 20-30 minutes from Highway 101. Hikers will meander down an old BLM road, taking animal trails and paths off the main road. The hike will conclude with a walk along Bald Mountain Creek before returning to the campground for samples of the Taylors' homemade wild mushroom soup. "Hikers are encouraged to explore the woodlands in the opposite direction after the soup break," Mary Taylor says.

"Although we will be walking up and down an old gravel road which is fairly steep in some sections, I don't think that the route will tax most people. When you are looking for mushrooms, you generally aren't walking too fast." Taylor says.

"While there is never any guarantee that we'll find mushrooms," Steven Taylor added, "at a minimum, we'll have a good time exploring."

The Taylors advise taking no small children or pets. They also recommend wearing long sleeves and bright clothing. Walkers also should wear hiking boots and can bring whistles and compasses, a paper bag for mushroom collection, extra lunch snacks and water. Be prepared to walk in weather-proof garments.

Carpoolers in Brookings can depart from the Alder Medical Center at 8:30 a.m.; carpoolers in Gold Beach can depart from the Curry General Hospital Annex parking lot at 9:15 a.m.

Irene Davis of Harbor is the recent $50 winner of the Sole Pursuits Walking Card program. The next card drawing is set for Dec. 10. The drawing is made possible quarterly by support from the Chetco Federal Credit Union.

On Nov 19, Sole Pursuits invites hikers to join Molly and Jim Walker, publishers of the Curry County Reporter, at 10 a.m., at the South Beach Visitor Center. They will lead a walk along the beach joining the Rotary Trail to the Patterson Bridge, about two miles or so one-way. Dec. 10, Jim Coffee will offer his second annual Old Coast Meditation Trail experience.

New FNP at Clinic

Sandra P. Johnson, MSN, FNP, has joined Tom Pitchford, M.D., and staff of Curry Family Medical, 525 Madrona, in Port Orford. Johnson brings more than a dozen years in hospital experience to Port Orford, including stints in orthopedics, surgery and mother-baby perinatal with St. Luke's regional medical and surgery centers in Idaho. Her background also includes experience in a rural clinic, college health and wellness clinic, VA outpatient clinic, women's clinic, internal medicine clinic, correctional institution clinic and breast health education.

Johnson is a 1964 graduate of Gold Beach High School, and recalls with fondness her first clinically-related job – as a nurse's aide – at Curry General Hospital when she was 15. She remembers working under Arlena Hall, R.N., former nursing director. She received her family nurse practitioner certificate from Gonzaga University in Spokane. Currently, Johnson is working with the Curry General Hospital trauma team in the hospital emergency room in Gold Beach. She will be taking appointments to see patients in the clinic later this month.

Johnson says she is excited to return to the coast where she and her husband can be at home with the mountains, the ocean, the rain and the fog. Her husband, Stan Johnson, is retiring soon as head of the Teamster's in Idaho. For more information, phone the clinic at (541) 332-3861.

Flu Prevention

The Curry County Health Department has not received the flu vaccine for the 2005-2006 flu season. It is expected to arrive at the end of October or the beginning of November.

As soon as the vaccine is received, the health department will begin scheduling flu vaccine clinics for all three local offices. Dates and times will be announced.

The following information is suggested to help stop the spread of flu:

Avoid close contact: Avoid close contact with people who are sick. When you are sick, keep you distance from others to protect them from getting sick too.

Stay home when you are sick: If possible, stay home from work, school, and errands when you are sick to prevent others from catching your illness.

Cover your mouth and nose: Cover your mouth and nose with a tissue when coughing or sneezing. It may help prevent those around you from getting sick.

Clean your hands: Washing your hands often will help protect you from germs. Make sure to wash your hands after using shopping carts, etc. Carry an antibacterial hand wash and use when you are unable to wash your hands.

Avoid touching your eyes, nose, or mouth: Germs are often spread when a person touches something that is contaminated with germs and then touches his or her eyes, nose, or mouth.

Letter to the Editor,

A life saving Breast Cancer Awareness program is in effect all over the county. It is called the Buddy Check, a program that encourages women and men to remind each other to do monthly self-exams. You can call Rogue Valley Medical Center at 1-888-292-7364 for a Free Buddy Check Kit. As you may have noticed there is breast cancer awareness merchandise at a few businesses around town.

I would like to thank everyone in their support for this worthy cause: Paradise Café, Highway 101 Liquor, Senior Center, Chetco Bank, Sterling Bank, Port Orford Coffee House, Wild Horse Salon, Port & Starboard, and the Antique Motorcycle Museum. Also Lance Cox of Coos Curry Supply for donating all the paint and supplies to help make this possible and Paul Hewitt for our Breast

Love Monkeys

A couple weeks ago, the Port Orford Love Monkeys for Peace gathered at Battle Rock and marched through town to show our support and solidarity with the hundreds of thousands of others across our great nation. That's right! Hundreds of thousands of people protesting the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. Right here in Port Orford there were over sixty folks in our Love Monkeys' March for Peace. People from Gold Beach, Langlois, Sixes, Coos Bay, Coquille, and North Bend joined our local and ever-growing troop. Thank you to all those brave marchers.

Now there's another job for Love Monkeys. It's time for Love Monkeys and their friends to swing south to clean our beautiful section of Highway 101. We'll meet at Battle Rock on Sunday, October 23 at 10:00am. Hopefully the more than sixty folks who marched for peace a couple weeks ago will show their support to end all wars by joining us this Sunday to pick up litter along the road. There'll be a potluck afterward so bring a tasty dish to share. Rain cancels. Questions? 332-1945.

Pumpkin Decorating Contest

The Sixes Post Office is hosting a pumpkin decorating contest! Children ages 6-12 are encouraged to grab their parents and an undecorated pumpkin and bring them to the Sixes Post Office at 44560 Highway 101 from 10:30am to 12:30pm (judging will start at 12:30pm) on Saturday, October 22. (if it's raining it will be held next door in the old Sixes Store.) There they will be given the supplies to turn ordinary orange gourds into works of pumpkin art – and not by carving funny or scary faces, but by using non-toxic glue and Hershey's candy.

While the kids are having fun decorating their pumpkins, parents can learn more about the Postal Service's quick, easy, convenient online services such as NetPost Premium Postcards, NetPost Card-Store, Click-N-Ship and the Postal Store – just in time for the busy holiday mailing season.

Come on down and have fun!

Jimmy Collins

Jimmy Collins, former owner of Silver Springs trailer court suffered a heart attack and after a week or more stay at the Veteran's Hospital in Roseburg were he passed away during the night on Saturday, October 8.

Many in Port Orford remember him as he lived here many years ago. He is survived by just two siblings out of eight. His sister Mary Yoder, a long time resident of Port Orford, and also a brother, George Collins of Trinidad, California; Jay Collins, his son and a daughter, Leanna both of Roseburg, Oregon.

Jimmy lived many happy years in Red Bluff, California before his recent move back to his long time home of Roseburg, Oregon. He was a wonderful brother, father, uncle, grandfather and friend to many and will be sorely missed. No services will be held.

Family Gives Thanks

On September 3, 2005 after spending a wonderful day celebrating Langlois first annual "Back to the Garden" community event, our Mom and best friend fell into her final sleep.

When we think of Mom, we have our own memories and know that she loved us. Our Mom also loved this community and had faith in its support, roots and people. The overwhelming response that

Free Chamber Jazz

This Saturday evening will be a rare opportunity to enjoy jazz music live in Gold Beach with the appearance of Primal Mates, a nationally known Chamber Jazz duo. The free concert begins at 8:00pm in the Biscuit Showroom at Gold Beach Books.

The duo is headquartered in Colorado, where members Chris Lee & Colleen O'Brien make their home. They offer contemporary chamber jazz in which vibes, voice, cello and percussion come together to form an inspired original repertoire. Bookstore owner Ted Watkins says, "Chris and Colleen create visionary music, which has been called 'a unique, sometimes haunting and always mesmerizing journey through an intimate musical landscape.'" Watkins notes that the group "Combines the composition and form of chamber music with the freedom of improvisational jazz; I am delighted that they are making the Biscuit one of their tour stops."

Lee has performed with diverse artists such as Joe Henderson, Lew Tabackin, Mose Allison, Sheila Jordan, and Nancy King, while O'Brien has performed with John Stowell, Art Lande, and Paul McCandless of the group "Oregon." O'Brien has been featured on the PBS series, "Artist Profile."

Primal Mates' CDs, which they will be autographing Saturday, have enjoyed rave reviews, with Victory Review writing, "Their touch is light, open, airy, flowing with humor and creative genius."

The Biscuit Showroom is located on the second floor of Gold Beach Books, at the corner of Pacific Highway 101 and First Street in Gold Beach.

Fire Season Officially Over

The Coos Forest Protective Association officially ended fire season on October 15 at 8:00am. Industrial fire precaution restrictions are no longer in effect and outdoor debris burning is now allowed without a permit outside incorporated cities in Coos, Curry and western Douglas County.

CFPA fire managers advise residents to exercise caution when burning. This time of year, several days of sunshine and dry weather can create a fire risk even if a week or more of rainy, cool conditions precedes them. The only type of burning requiring a permit is for logging slash.

To request a burn permit for slash disposal or if you have other general questions regarding debris burning, call your nearest CFPA office: Coos Bay (541) 267-3161; Bridge (541) 572-2796; Gold Beach (541) 247-6241.

City Burn Pile Hours

The City of Port Orford burn pile is open again. The hours people may bring their yard debris are from 8:00am to 4:00pm, Monday through Friday. The burn pile is located at the City Shops on Port Orford Loop Road. The burn pile will be open on Saturdays at the discretion of the fire department. Please check first before bringing your yard debris.

Safety Program

Port Orford Ocean Resource Team (POORT) and Coast Guard auxiliary commercial fishing vessel examiners have met and are launching a voluntary commercial fishing vessel safety program for documented and state registered vessels engaged in commercial fishing operating out of Port Orford. The goal is 100% participation in voluntary courtesy fishing vessel safety dockside exams. The free exam is done as a service and is not a law enforcement exam. Vessels found to have all of the required equipment are issued a decal.

Boat owners, skippers, and crews are encouraged to utilize the information, online, at CFVSEA.com as a reference for commercial fishing safety. CFVSEA.com is not an official US Coast Guard website. The information and links are provided by CFVSEA.com are for reference only.

Call (541) 888-1416 (24 hour message phone) to schedule your dockside exam, or for any further information.

Curry History Class

Cities, towns, villages, homesteads, and the Patterson Bridge over the Rogue River will be featured at this week's session of the Curry County History short course on Thursday, October 20, at Port Orford City Hall. The course is sponsored by Southwestern Oregon Community College and the Curry Historical Society and is presented with slides by Walt Schroeder and is free.

On October 27 a panel of long-time North Curry residents will share stories of their remembrances of growing up here. The final session on November 3 will cover wartime in Curry County, the Forest Service, Civilian Conservation Corps of the depression years, the Chinese in Curry County and shipwrecks along the Curry Coast.

Participants can register at the door or at the SWOCC offices for this no charge series.

Water Master Plan Meeting

The Common Council of the City of Port Orford invites the public to a Workshop on the Water Master Plan at 7:00 p.m., Monday, October 24, at City Hall Gable Chambers, 555 W. 20th, Port Orford, Oregon. The workshop is being held for a Presentation of the completed Water Master Plan by SHN Engineering, and for discussion of the proposed projects set forth in the plan.

The Friends of the Langlois Library would like to thank the following businesses and individuals for supporting the Langlois Library Peddler's Faire in 2005. Through your donations of silent auction items, your sponsorships, and your much-appreciated gift of time, the Faire was a huge success and raised almost $4,000 this year.

Chamber Seeks Candidates By Jay Stoler

The Chamber of Commerce is seeking candidates to become members of the Board of Directors. Only members in Port Orford or North Curry may apply. All levels of members are eligible; full, associate, or senior. There are four board positions coming available for 2006.

The Port Orford and North Curry Chamber is an all volunteer operation with headquarters in the Visitors Center. The Chamber has been serving North Curry since the early 1950's and is a state licensed 501 (c) (3), not-for-profit Oregon corporation.

Over 90 members strong the Chamber is active in many facets of the community and needs diversity on the Board to represent all interests. Retirees and active business people are both encouraged to run for election.

Being a Chamber Director offers an opportunity to volunteer in a structured manner with a set number of promotions and events for the year.

The Chamber provides benefits to members in the form of Internet advertising, ads in six editions of Oregon Coast magazine, publication of a Port Orford/North Curry map with Chamber members highlighted. The map is used for mail out visitor requests and walk-in visitors at the Visitors Center.

In addition, the Chamber participates in the Jubilee by selling fireworks to raise money. There is also participation in the Arts Festival on Labor Day weekend as well as a Holiday Lights contest with Gold Beach during December.

The Board of Directors terms have been shortened to only two-years and the average commitment of time is a few hours a month. There is a Board meeting on the second Monday of the month and membership meetings scheduled on an as needed basis.

To be put on the ballot, please come to the Chamber Board meeting on Monday, November 14 at 1:00pm at the Port and Starboard restaurant. Interested persons may also call Jay Stoler at 332-3106 for more information.

Letter to the Editor,

Attention all veterans. We now have a Curry County Veterans Service representative, who will be at the North Curry Families and Children's Center (the Blue Building), 1403 N. Oregon Street, every Tuesday from 1:00 to 4:30pm. No appointment is needed.

Owen Miller, Commander
American Legion Post 76

Steve Montana Joins Concert

Steve Montana, guitar and banjo player and music instructor will be the opening act for the ASPCA benefit featuring Mary McCaslin on Sunday, October 23, from 3:00-6:00pm. See ad for details.

KCBY Responds

The following is a letter sent to Port Manager Gary Anderson from Ken Croes, Station/Sales Manager for KCBY-TV in Coos Bay (a CBS affiliate).

"First of all thank you for your e-mail. We appreciate the fact you cared enough to write.

As you know, we have been working to repair the problem for well over a month. The problem has proven to be an unprecedented engineering challenge. The Port Orford translator and a second unit that feeds the translator at another hill location have failed. Both pieces of equipment are on our engineer's work bench awaiting parts replacement or have been sent away to the manufacturer for repair. At the same time, our backup systems are in use elsewhere keeping another translator location alive while its primary unit is being repaired. It took three engineers at three different hill locations simultaneously to even diagnose the problem. VERY unusual step. Needless to say, this has been the most frustrating (and expensive) repair challenge we have faced in the 44 years we've been on the air.

Our hope is to restore service by mid-week next week but I cannot promise it. We thought we had a cure twice before only to be dashed again. And all of this is happening at the worst time for us in that CBS is premiering most of their new and popular shows this month and next month.

I assure you that we are making every effort (and spending every dollar) necessary to bring service back. Hopefully our efforts will be rewarded soon. Thank you again for your e-mail."
