Pruitt Saves the Day By Evan Kramer

The Port Orford City Council met last Thursday, May 6, and it was up to Jack Pruitt to save the day for the council.

The meeting began with Mayor Jim Auburn calling for several Battle Rock Park Visitor Center volunteers to the front of the room. Jim Hajek, Jim Billings and Mary Colozzi were each given certificates of appreciation by the Mayor and later on in the meeting volunteer Steve Roemen was given one. The volunteers were greeted with a round of applause for their efforts keeping the center open so many hours.

Citizens concerns should have been referred to as concerned citizens. The concerns were led off by Chris Hawthorne reading a prepared statement to the council blasting an unnamed city councilor, two unnamed letter writers and an unnamed newspaper. He said he was commenting on the venomous letters to the editor submitted to the paper by a rancorous city councilor and her two pompous supporters accusing the letters of being full of innuendos and slanderous accusations. Hawthorne referred to Councilor Clancy's letter in PO Today dated April 28 and the two of the letters in the May 5 edition of Port Orford Today. He said the letters discredited two of the city councilors (Smith and Hewitt) and provided a hostile attitude. He said the letter writers had no interest in seeing Port Orford thrive and that the majority of people support the Hawthorne Development (at Battle Rock Park). He felt the development has the potential to be beneficial to the community. Hawthorne continued his attack by saying he felt it was unfortunate that "the local hand out paper (Port Orford Today!) chose to fan the flames of controversy by not following their own policy on letters to the editor by publishing letters containing personal attacks and false information." Editor's note: Our letter to the editor policy is they be 250 words or less or if they are over that amount it costs ten cents a word. We encourage all points of view Mr. Hawthorne including yours which certainly fans the flames of controversy.

Mayor Jim Auburn would not let Caroline Clancy respond to the Hawthorne attack but earlier in the meeting the council had put the parking lot at Battle Rock Park on the agenda under old business.

Carlene Armi said that Caroline Clancy could not have been more right and that it was the council's duty to protect our parks; not give them away. Armi asked the council why they were not as smart as other cities which require businesses provide parking for their customers. Pat Rice told the council she was not for giving away part of the street (Jefferson Street) and that people use that spot and enjoy it.

Mayor Auburn said that the city did not give any property away to the Hawthorne's. He said the city gave them a ROW (right of way usage permit) only. These can be revoked by the city at any time. Caroline Clancy reminded the council of the approval of the ROW for the Hawthorne's which was done under the consent calendar on December 18, 2008. There was no discussion of it at the time and no map provided explaining what was going to be done or where. ROW's are put on the consent calendar which is voted on without discussion. Clancy said it wasn't done properly. City Public Works Superintendent Alan Wagner said the sidewalk which will be installed by the developers is driven by the municipal code. Auburn reminded people the city does not have a parking ordinance or requirements. Councilor David Smith said the city has not given Hawthorne anything and that the ROW land remains public property. He claimed Hawthorne was changing the area for the betterment of the city. Smith told Clancy the untruths in her letter were shameful. He had previously called Clancy on the phone and berated her because of the letter she wrote in the handout but then called back later and apologized.

The ROW granted the Hawthorne's for the tip of Jefferson Street adjacent to Battle Rock Park remains in effect. They do not own the property but have been given a right to use it – in this case it will be planted and remain open for public use but not for public parking use. This area has been a very popular spot for people to park their cars and trucks and enjoy one of the best views on the Oregon coast. The developer will provide, at his own expense, a wrap around sidewalk along Jefferson Street which is located mainly on city property. People will be able to park adjacent to the sidewalk on Jefferson Street facing south.

The council lurched forward into new business and with a motion by councilor Scott Luhr and unanimous vote approved the liquor license renewal list as cleared by Police Chief Marvin Combs.

The council then approved an intergovernmental agreement with the Curry County Juvenile Department for the city to provide office space to the county at the cost of $50 a month.

There were two letters in the council packet for approval including one of support for construction of a new cannery building at the Port and one for support for the jetty repair. But council Scott Luhr, also a member of the Port of Port Orford Commission, asked that the two letters be removed from the agenda. He said things were changing daily and asked the letters be held back from the agenda. Mayor Auburn said the council really does support a new cannery building.

The council approved changing the date of the bicycle group overnight stay in Buffington Park in June. The group has used the park before and Caroline Clancy said last time they were here they left the park in better shape than they found it.

The council discussed fine tuning the council rules with the feeling they needed to be consistent with the city charter.

The council approved Doug and Joyce Schofield as the new Buffington Park hosts.

The council approved the consent calendar including naming Sam Scaffo as a member of the Planning Commission and Jennifer-Bastian Robertson as a member of the Parks Commission.

Then it was back to citizen's concerns where Jack Pruitt suggested that in the future all ROW's be reviewed by the city planning commission before going to the council. This would give the planning commission and citizenry a chance to comment on them. Pruitt said that a group of citizens was going to do a ballot initiative for an Ordinance that would mandate the ROW's go first to the planning commission for review. At this point councilor John Hewitt told Pruitt he had an excellent idea and that the council supported it. Planning commission chairman Dave Holman said he had no objection to this idea. He added that he was disturbed by the hostility in this town and asked that we all get along. Holman offered his assistance as a civil engineer on the parking issue at Battle Rock Park.

Caroline Clancy referred to what Hawthorne said earlier in the meeting as wrong and mean spirited. Mayor Auburn said the council would try and listen to all sides. The next council meeting is on Thursday, May 20, at 6:00pm. Now can we all get along?

Letter to the Editor,

Battle Rock Parking or lack of: Well at the 5-06-10 Council meeting, Smith had said what they did was legal according to the Ordinances, concerning allowing the owner of the new construction, to take out the asphalt at the end of Jefferson Street, removing parking and view of the ocean. Smith also said that the property did belong to the Public along with the new sidewalk. Well I have a bit of an eye opener for you, in the City Code book, which is available on line or at City Hall, under Chapter 17.12, Use Zone, 17.12.090 Battle Rock Mixed use Zone (10-MU), E. Design Standards for all new Development, #4. Off Street Parking for Properties with Frontage on Highway and New Commercial Structures throughout the Battle Rock Mixed Use Zone (10-MU): it states, and I quote: "All off-street parking areas shall be located behind, under, or to the side of a building, and shall incorporate a landscape buffer from adjacent property as well as from any sidewalk abutting the parking area", end of quote. Well as I read it the new owners are not conforming to the Ordinance 17.12.090. The Councilors are still wrong about the property that they allowed the new owner to use, by way of a Right of Way Usage permit, which can be revoked by the Council or a New Council, as stated, by the City Attorney. The sidewalk is supposed to be set back far enough to accommodate parking; instead the sidewalk has been moved south enough toward Battle Rock entrance, to not have any parking, for the business, except in Battle Rock Park. So when you pull into Battle Rock, be aware that they may put parking in the middle of Jefferson St.

This has been going on for a long time. It has to stop and now! Don't let them give away any more of the City, especially Battle Rock and or the parking. We all need to stand up and be heard, letters in this paper that will print the truth, is one way. We can not just stand by and do nothing. Voice your opinion to let them know we won't stand for this anymore.

I believe the Department of Justice, is the one to contact next. Oregon has strict meeting laws and they are not adhering to them. I have voiced my opinion to the Department of Justice, so if others will follow suit, then, hopefully, the Department of Justice will put a stop to this behavior.

Letter to the Editor,

I attended the City Council meeting on May 6th. It was messy, unruly at times, uncomfortable, cringe inducing, flashes of humor, good ideas (way to go, Jack Pruitt!), civil in spots and hopeful. In short, it was democracy in action. One comment, however was chilling and that was that the Fun Zone/ Evan should be careful about what Letters to the Editor he publishes. This is not "democracy in action" and I whole heartedly throw my meager little support behind Evan to publish whatever letter comes across his door. There is always next week to rebut the previous week's letters. Everyone has the liberty and right to their opinion. Even knuckleheads, like me.

Letter to the Editor,

I am writing in hopes that this will make dog owners aware of a safety issue in regard to their dogs that get loose and go on a "run-about". We have llamas and even though we have a pretty good fencing system, loose dogs still find their way in or around our area. Most of the time it is just one dog that has strayed in to the area and soon moves on. Sometimes we have had two dogs, who then revert to the pack mode and can become a big nuisance and/or dangerous to man and livestock. This letter is in regards to two dogs whose presence was detected by our llamas even before we could see them. Everyone was staring at the brush from all of the pastures. So after watching where the llamas were looking a few minutes, sure enough a dog was spotted, soon another joined it. I kept an eye on them as I continued to prepare dinner but they did not move on. So I told my husband to try whistling them closer, Why he asks? So I can shoot them I say, What? With my camera I reply. If I can get shots of them then I have proof they were here in case of mayhem, plus maybe I can identify their owners. We put our farm dog in a pen thinking it would help them to decide to move along plus our dog feels she needs to protect the farm. But they chose to come investigate the bunny barn, clapping my hands and telling them to shoo didn't work but seemed an invitation to come on up to the porch. I tried pointing them down the drive but that did not work either. One was a lab dog, the other a larger older springer spaniel mix with long hair. They looked like they had been running for awhile, tongues hanging out, muddy and wet. The younger would not go far from the older dogs side. Checking them closer I looked at the chains around their necks but saw only a rabies tag on each, no name or number to call. So being a softie I put a bit of food down for them. After taking a couple of bites both laid down and closed their eyes. Then I tried to figure out who to call. It being after six, I finally thought of my neighbor Beaver. Luckily they had someone stop by earlier looking for two lost dogs so she came down, loaded them up and took them to find their owners. Thank you Beaver. So the moral of this story is put a human name or a phone number on the tag so your pet can come home sooner.

Time to Vote

Time is running short to get your ballot back to the Curry County Elections Department for the May 18 gubernatorial primary election. All ballots must be received by 8:00pm on Tuesday, May 18. There is a 24 hour drive-up ballot box in Port Orford at City Hall. Ballots can be dropped off at the city hall drop off box until 8:00pm or mailed in but if you wait to vote until next Monday or Tuesday please use the safe and secure drop off box in front of city hall.

This election features a hotly contested race for Curry County Commissioner with David Itzen and Lucie La Bonte and David Smith vying for the now non partisan job of commissioner. If one of the three candidates gets 50% of the vote plus one they will win; otherwise there will be a runoff in November. Republicans are deciding between Art Robinson and Jaynee Germond on which one of those two will run against Congressman Peter DeFazio who is running for a thirteenth term in the House of Representatives. The Democrats and Republicans both have large numbers of people running for their party's nomination for governor but we've seen little action down in Curry County on this part of the election.

The Curry County Elections Department reported that as of Monday morning, May 10, 2,479 ballots had been mailed back. There are 13,546 registered voters in the county for a return rate of 18%. By comparison in the May 2006 Gubernatorial primary election only 13% of the voters had mailed their ballots back with this much time left.

Unofficial Curry County Election results will be available some time after 8:00pm in the webstie at www.co.curry.us/Clerk

Letter to the Editor,

I want to thank you both for the more than 20 years of your contributions to Northern Curry County. Perhaps the reason this hasn't been said before is that many of us have been busy enjoying the wide variety of movies you make easily available and affordable. I would have found Port Orford a much more remote place if the Fun Zone wasn't here.

Many of us appreciate "Port Orford Today" for accurate reporting of the important news in our town. I, personally, can attest to your efforts to research the facts before you publish in order to maintain truth, as well as your personal dignity, and the dignity of your readers. To my knowledge, you have never let us down or embarrassed us by broadcasting inaccuracies. This is remarkable over your tenure as journalists in this complex, convoluted, social and political environment.

At the same time, "Port Orford Today" under your management, has made cost-effective advertising available for our distressed rural businesses. (Classified ads at less than $3.00 have brought me rental inquiries from international callers.)

I know neither of you want me to list your past and present contributions to the community in the areas of technology, education, business development, political activism, and otherwise.

Sometimes it aided your business, but it also helped North Curry evolve. Everybody knows, if they just think back a little.

Let's not forget the entertainment and cultural enhancement the vast selection of movies-for-rent you've stocked and made affordable has rendered this isolated outpost we call Port Orford. I would have felt a lot more remote before the "Downtown Fun Zone" brought the universe to my TV screen before cable and subsequent computer hookups our rural area has managed to acquire. Again, Valerie should be commended on literally hundreds of hours of effort to bring high speed internet to us.

Don't forget that the stock of office and multitude of office and computer-related products and electronic gadgets, Fun Zone stocks, often with free hands-on instructions on their use, all save us countless hours of travel to buy such essentials, and reduce our carbon foot prints.

Valerie and Evan, most people know I'm your friend. I'm proud to say so, if you'll let me.

I just wanted to make people aware of what many of us take for granted.

With my sincerest apologies for the discomfort I know my frankness may cause for both of you.

Respectfully,

Local Law Enforcement News

On April 28, 2010, the Port Orford Police Department (POPD) received an alleged report of child pornography from a local citizen. Upon investigation of this complaint, the POPD requested the Curry County Sheriff's Office (CCSO) work in conjunction with POPD on the case. On May 5, 2010, law enforcement officials from both POPD and CCSO served a search warrant on a local storage unit. Based upon their findings, warrants were issued for the arrest of David Anthony Windham, age 43 of Bend, Oregon, on the charges of Ex-Con in Possession of Firearms (x2) and Failure to Register as a Sex Offender.

On May 5, 2010, the POPD contacted the Deschutes County Sheriff's Office (DCSO) in regard to their pending investigation and current warrants out of Curry County. DCSO conducted a subsequent investigation and served a search warrant at Windham's residence on May 6, 2010. On May 7, 2010, during examination of the evidence seized from Windham's residence, DCSO discovered evidence of new crimes. Along with Curry County warrants, Windham was charged with 180 counts of Encouraging Child Sex Abuse, 31 counts of Using a Child in a Display of Sexual Exploitation, and 8 counts of Sexual Abuse in the First Degree out of Deschutes County. Total bail for Windham's new charges is $5,300,000.

At this time, our case is pending further investigation and review by the POPD, CCSO and the Curry County District Attorney's Office. Both law enforcement agencies are attempting to identify some minor children whose photographs were found during the search of Windham's property. We also have additional evidence that has not yet been analyzed due to the sheer volume of evidence that was seized.

We are asking citizens who suspect they, or someone they know, may have been a victim of David Anthony Windham to please contact our offices at (541) 332-9013 and speak with Chief Marvin Combs or (541) 274-3242 and speak with Detective David Gardiner.

fice received reports the same day from Port Orford Police Chief Marvin Combs regarding Ms. Kytola's arrest. The District Attorney then filed charges against her with the Circuit Court.

On May 6, 2010 Ms. Kytola, the defendant, plead guilty to three counts of Negotiating a Bad Check. Judge Cynthia Beamon then sentenced her to 60 days in jail and put her on probation for 36 months. She was also ordered to pay restitution to all known victims and ordered not to enter any of the businesses where she passed the bad checks. District Attorney Everett Dial said that Port Orford Police Chief Marvin Combs did a great job in putting the case together and said that Chief Combs was able to get the defendant to admit that she had knowingly written the bad checks on a closed account and to admit that she had written them because she was on drugs. Dial further stated that the defendant had four prior convictions for Identity Theft in 2005 and 2006, and she had prior convictions for Mail Theft, Trespass and Harassment. Ms. Kytola was represented by a public attorney through the Curry Consortium.

“A good business in a terrible location”. What does that mean? Well , what did we have before and how did it work out?A car load of travelers: cranky kids, growly dads, frustrated moms etc, etc. Battle Rock Park -- rest area -- URINALS ! -- HOORAY! Now look around -- beautiful view -- oh boy!, ice cream for kids, mom heads for shell shack, dad goes to restaurant for hamburger and coffee, kids drift in for fries, mom stops at real estate office. Benefit to travelers: happy, relaxed, hang around, spend money. Benefit to Port Orford:(varies by season) jobs; shell shack 2 or 3 employees 1 of which is full time, real estate office - rotating agents, ice cream shop 3 or 4 one full time, restaurant 6 or 7, three full time. Tally for the city -- 10 to 14 jobs of variable permanence, plus ??? outside dollars staying in town.

What about the new business? Travelers finish with the urinals, look at the view for a moment and then move on down the road. Southbound, Gold Beach gets what could have been ours. Northbound, once dad and mom strap in the kids they aren't going to stop again in 4 or 5 blocks so Bandon gets what could have been ours. What does the new business get? A few tire kickers walking around and some grubby fingerprints from the kids. High end art is usually a planned purchase not an impulse buy.

And the city loses.

How could this have been avoided ?

Letter to Editor,

It's important that your ballot be in the hands of the Curry County Clerks office by May 18th. You can however, place them in the white box called the “Curry County Official Ballot Drop Site” next to Port Orford City Hall. I'm sure there are boxes throughout the county. It's best to have your ballot at the drop site before 8pm.

If you are registered as a Democrat or Republican you can vote in the primary for all candidates in your party, county, state or federal elections, regardless of the office.

In fact, the ballot you receive will reflect what you're permitted to vote on based on how you registered.

Hope this is clear enough, if not, call the Curry County Clerks office, 541-247-3297.

Your vote is important, don't waste it.

Letter to the Editor,

If we look toward the future of this county, economic growth is a number one priority. The effects of negative economic growth are seen in the "ghost towns" of the mid-west, where the jobs left, then the people and the businesses. There are plenty of warning signs in Curry County. We need to ensure our existing industries such as timber, fishing, and agriculture are maintained into the future so the jobs they provide continue to support our families. We need to support efforts to create new business that will provide jobs for our residents and improve our communities to make them safe and attractive place to live.

The county has in place a Department of Economic and Community Development (ECD) which is doing a superlative job, under director Susan Brown, of bringing in federal and state funding and tax relief programs for business and education. ECD has also developed programs to protect vital industries, improve health care, education, housing, and more. Additionally, ECD has established professional marketing of our county's unique qualities. ECD is responsible for millions of dollars flowing into our economy and is funded through lottery money at approximately $60,000 per year. Loss of this agency would be a terrible setback.

I urge the Commissioners to continue the high priority of economic and community stimulus activities by supporting and sustaining ECD. Our future literally depends on it.

Sincerely,

R. Scott Auble

Letter to the Editor,

I want to thank all of the regular people for supporting me in this election. Curry County politics has been so interesting to follow over the years. The factions of "control" people who want to control the flow of politics. Then there are the regular working people, some now unemployed, home makers, young mothers and retired people. Sometimes I see them sitting at the lunch counters or in the grocery store. They say "hello" to me on the street, some I know by name and others I don't. When I go door to door they recognize me from coming by before or from my picture in the paper. These are the people I served as commissioner, not the "power" people or those who tried to contribute to get something. My heart sings for you and if elected you are the ones I will remember I serve. Thank you for your support.

Lucie La Bonté
County Commissioner Candidate

Letter to the Editor,

I would like to thank everyone who had called me or stopped me to talk about my letter and the situation at Battle Rock. It makes me glad to know it is so worthwhile to work for you all. After review I stand by every single thing I wrote.

I have been rebuked for signing my letter as a city counselor so in the future I will use only my name and not my elected title.

I think after listening to Mr. Hawthorne express his opinion at the city council meeting it appears the letters from the public are hitting a little too close to home for everyone involved.

All I can say is if it looks like a duck, walks like a duck and talks like a duck it's a duck.

Port Orford Weather Report

There's a 90 percent chance of rain but look out your window and it's 100 percent raining.

The City of Port Orford Public Works Department keeps weather statistics for the city on a monthly basis. The crew recorded 13.95 inches of rain in April with the most amount of rain on one day being 3.72 inches on April 27. The high temperature for the month was 61 degrees on April 11 and 17. The low temperature for the month was 31 degrees recorded on April 15.

Letter to the Editor,

Now more than ever, we need a person as a County Commissioner that understands the issues and situations facing our community. Lucie La Bonte is certainly that. Her past record of involvement and decisions on tourism, fishing (both sport and commercial) and environmental (such as gravel mining on the Rogue River) have always proven to be in the best interest of the county and the people living in it. Please vote for Lucie as we need that kind of representation again.
